VOL. LXI., No. 11. NEW YORK, March 15, 1902. WHOLE No. 1572

The Only Comprehensive Year Book Published in the United States

Appletons' Annual Cyclopaedia

What the World Did in 1901

Large 8vo. All bindings, $5.00 Up

(By Subscription)

THE field occupied by Appletons' Annual Cyclopædia is peculiarly its own. While there are many year-books, they all, to a greater or less degree, seek to specialize some class or classes of information. Appletons' is, in the true sense, a cyclopædia. It covers the whole ground, and is the record of human progress for a year. It includes in its scope those departures from the regular routine that require special mention, and on such subjects expert writers in each branch have given the benefit of their experience. The 1901 edition of this incomparable work contains as a frontispiece a fine photogravure of President Roosevelt, and many full-page illustrations, including portraits of Li-Hung-Chang and President Hadley of Yale, and day and night views of the Pan-American Exposition, while numerous illustrations are interspersed through the text.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO.'S Spring Novels

The Heroine of the Strait

A Romance of Detroit in the Time of Pontiac

By MARY CATHERINE CROWLEY

Author of "A Daughter of New France."

A novel of love, adventure and war in the stirring times of the Siege of Detroit by the Ottawa chief Pontiac. A strong, vivid Romance, into which are woven historical events, many of which have come to light since Parkman's day.

Superbly illustrated by CH. GRUNWALD.

12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50

In the Eagle's Talon

A Romance of the Louisiana Purchase

By SHEPPARD STEVENS

Author of "I Am the King," "Sword of Justice," etc.

Here we have the court life of the French Empire and the wild primitive life in the middle West vividly contrasted. One of the many dramatic scenes in the book is the encounter between Napoleon the First Consul and Adrienne Lafrenière, and the subsequent rescue of Adrienne from "the Eagle's talon," by Louis Lafrenière, the manly hero. The characters are strongly drawn and incident and adventure abound. It is withal a pretty and pleasant story, and the local color and the account of the Louisiana purchase give it a historical value.

The book is illustrated by A. RUSSELL.

12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50

The God of Things

A Novel of Modern Egypt

By FLORENCE BROOKS WHITEHOUSE

Illustrated by the author.

A charming modern love story with an Egyptian background. The heroine, Dorothy, is opposed to divorce. At Cairo, where the scene of the story is laid, she meets and learns to love a man whose wife has left him. The deserting wife appears on the scene later and the events which follow are depicted with skill and grace. The foreign atmosphere is one of the charms of this society novel, which is clever and entertaining throughout.

The author's illustrations enhance its attractiveness.

12mo, decorated cloth, $1.50

In the Country God Forgot

A Story of To-Day. By FRANCES CHARLES

An American novel, the scene being laid in the West, and so strongly written that it arouses one's sympathies and appeals to one's emotions, making us love or hate its leading characters. The hate of a rich old farmer of Arizona for his only son is the theme of the story. There are clever bits of philosophy, ably drawn character sketches, and stirring dramatic scenes, and the whole book is brimful of human nature.

The KINDRED of the WILD

A Book of Animal Life

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS

Author of "The Heart of the Ancient Wood," "A Sister to Evangeline," etc.

Illustrated with many full page drawings by

CHARLES LIVINGSTON BULL

Cloth, large 12mo, gilt top, ... $2.00

Mr. Roberts's latest work of fiction makes a most interesting addition to the slender stock of nature classics. He has studied with close and unwearied interest the lives of the great eagle, lord of the air; the panther that rules on the Upsalquitch; the lucifee, haunter of the pine gloom; Kehonka the wild goose; and all the furred and feathered creatures of the wilderness and the hunted trails. In view of the great and growing interest in the study of nature, seen through the eyes of close observers and trained recorders like Mr. Roberts, and reported under the guise of fiction, this will be a book of great popular interest.

WE also take pleasure in announcing that, by arrangement with his previous publishers, Messrs. SILVER, BURDETT & CO., we have taken over

Abroad with the Jimmies

By LILIAN BELL

Author of "The Love Affairs of an Old Maid," "The Expatriates," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.50

This book, one of Lilian Bell's best, is the witty account of a journey through Europe, filled with many amusing incidents and experiences. Although we are afforded vivid and interesting glimpses of Nordau, Tolstoi, and other personages of importance and note, not the least attractive figures in the book are those of the engaging Jimmies, the author's travelling companions.

The Cloistering of Ursula

By CLINTON SCOLLARD

Author of "A Man-at-Arms," etc.

Illustrated by H. C. EDWARDS

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.50

Italy in the heyday of all her splendid sins and terrible virtues is a fascinating field for any romancer, and it is a fascinating romance which is here unfolded—a story of deadly feud and secret craft, open hatred and hidden love. A strange cloistering is that of the charming Ursula, whose adventures the reader follows with breathless interest from the time when, all unwitting, she aids the enemy of her house to escape from the fatal banquet, to the time when she finds her claustral refuge in the heart of that enemy.

STEPHEN HOLTON A Story of Life as it is in Town and Country

By CHARLES FELTON PIDGIN

Author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" and "Blennerhassett."

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top, illustrated $1.50

In "Stephen Holton" the author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which has been called "the best New England story ever written," has returned to the field of his first success—the annals of homely modern life. The hundreds of thousands who read that widely noticed book are doubtless anticipating the author's second story of New England home life.

The Best of Balzac

EDITED BY

ALEXANDER JESSUP

1 vol., large 16mo, cloth, gilt top, decorative title-page with a photogravure portrait of Honore de Balzac. $1.25.

CONTENTS: Adieu; La Grande Breteche; The Duel; Master Cornelius; Love and the Chasm; The Meeting in the Convent; A Passion in the Desert.

Great worth in little space has been the aim and purpose of this volume. It was a formidable undertaking thus to compress the substance of the writings of Balzac; but one which success has justified.

This attractive little volume contains, besides the adequate selection of Balzac's best work, an introductory essay on the author's literary work and a complete bibliography of the same, as well as references to the chief critical authorities.

At the Cross-Roads

BY

ANNIE FELLOWS JOHNSTON

Author of "The Little Colonel's Holidays," etc.

1 vol., large 16mo, cloth, gilt top, with a frontispiece, $1.00.

The many readers of Mrs. Johnston's charming stories will look forward with pleasure to her latest book. "At the Cross-Roads" is a sketch of country life and country humor, done with the simplicity and grace which marks all of Mrs. Johnston's work, and touched with the sunny wisdom of the cheery old Cross-Roads philosopher, Asa Holmes. This is a book which will win its own way into the affections of the public, to which Mrs. Johnston's delightful juveniles have already endeared her.

D'RI AND I

160th THOUSAND By IRVING BACHELLER Author of EBEN HOLDEN

With Eight Drawings by F. C. Yohn. Price, $1.50

THE LONDON TIMES, ablest and most conservative newspaper of the British Empire, says of "D'ri and I"

"Mr. Bacheller is admirable alike in his scenes of peace and of war. He paints the silent woods in the fall of the year with the rich golden glow of the Indian summer. He is eloquently poetical in the lonely watcher's contemplation of thousands of twinkling stars reflected from the broad bosom of the St. Lawrence; and he is grimly humorous in such dramatic episodes as when Bell, who changed clothes with a scarecrow, plays the scarecrow's part within range of the bullets, when three of his friends have been marched out for execution by a firing party. Nor does anything in Crane's 'Red Badge of Courage' bring home to us more forcibly the horrors of war than the between-decks and the cockpit of a crippled ship, swept from stem to stern by the British broadsides, in an action brought à outrance on Lake Erie."

ON THE

GREAT HIGHWAY

By JAMES CREELMAN Nine Illustrations Price, net $1.20, postpaid $1.35

GEORGE W. CABLE says

"The wonderful charm of actuality is in every page. To be so romantically entertaining, yet deal wholly with facts, and to reward the serious inquirer at the same time with so much information — food for reflection, stimulation, and guidance — is a great gift, and also a great achievement."

THE CHRISTIAN HERALD says

"The famous war correspondent thrills and surprises his readers with a sense of the bigness of the world and the oneness of the human race. It is a great and moving book, beginning with a benediction of the Pope, and ending with the beautiful dying prayer of President McKinley. Between these two majestic scenes stretches a brilliant world of adventure,— wonderful battles, talks with kings and philosophers."

J. DEVLIN-BOSS

A ROMANCE OF AMERICAN POLITICS

By FRANCIS CHURCHILL WILLIAMS Price, $1.50

CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY says

"Jimmy is a most engaging rascal. You like him. You want him to win. The book is a remarkable performance. There will be thousands who will admire it. As a book it may march in a rank ahead of 'The Honorable Peter Stirling.'"

ADMIRAL ROBLEY D. EVANS says

"In this book we have presented, in a most masterly way, pure American character true to life, and I admire them all; but above all I must put J. Devlin — Boss. I wish every American boy could read the book. I am sure the country would be the better if they would."

TWO NEW NOVELS

Told By The Death's Head

By MAURUS JOKAI

Translated by S. E. BOGGS

A Unique Departure from the ordinary, historical novel.

Weird and picturesque, the story opens with the betrayal of a fort by Hugo, the hero, who while being tried for treason, confesses to other crimes, twenty-seven in all. He postpones sentence for his traitorous act by relating his life-story — full of excitement, brave deeds, narrow escapes, in spite of the crime connected with it. Each mad folly is followed by another if possible more hazardous, until the climax in the betrayal of the fort is reached.

"How does it end?" is a question which will be asked many times about "Told By the Death's Head."

Humorous and Thrilling, it will please all classes of readers.

Cloth bound, 12mo, Illustrated
$1.50

In White And Black

By W. W. PINSON

"This fresh and wholesome story well deserves the notice of the novel reader, with its memories of the old regime in the South, when white and black were bound together by common ties of confidence and love. Several fine types are described in the course of the story, and the tangled web of hard circumstance and fortune is woven with the strands of a pretty love story."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

"Just such a homely story as appeals to those who are tired of problem novels, and as such is bound to become popular." — Western Trade Journal.

"For a wholesome, clean little romance, the book is to be recommended."—Courier-Journal, Louisville.

Bound in red cloth, 12mo. Handsomely illustrated by Bert Ball. $1.50

"In this volume the author has made the effort to portray Napoleon as he appears to an average man. Archives have not been rummaged, new sources of information have not been discovered; the author merely claims to have used such authorities, old and new, as are accessible to any diligent student. No attempt has been made to give a full and detailed account of Napoleon's life or work. To do so would have required the labor of a decade, and the result would be almost a library. The author has tried to give to the great Corsican his proper historical position, his true rating as a man and a ruler—together with a just estimate of his achievements."—Preface.

INDEX TO SPRING ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this department the announcements of books to be published during the Spring season are indexed under author and title, with as much information as publishers were ready to give in advance of publication. Books which have already appeared in our "Weekly Record of New Publications" are not included.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds.," particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 15, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE SPRING OUTLOOK.

JUDGING from reports that come from every part of the country, business with booksellers is unusually good for the season, and signs are promising for a continuance of prosperity. While this condition may be largely due to the activity in trade generally, it may also be traced directly to the revival that was inaugurated a year ago by the action of the American Publishers' Association in adopting the net price system. Prejudice and opposition to the system are gradually vanishing, and so steadily are the ranks of the publishers closing in upon the contumacious that to-day in this vast country there are known to be only six firms which are making more or less vain efforts to oppose the Association; and only one of these firms can be said to be of any marked importance or doing business in a city of any size.

The American Publishers' Association is fulfilling its mission in a most admirable manner, with enough conservatism on the one hand to win the confidence of those who may have honest doubts as to the wisdom of some of its decisions, and with enough aggressiveness on the other hand to impress most forcibly on the minds of those inclined to break its rules that its members are in earnest and prepared at great sacrifice to give a fair trial to the experiment of making the profession of bookselling a profitable one. In taking this course the Association has steadily gained new members, adding some even who at first thought they had much to lose by becoming members and considerably more to gain by standing aloof. By the accession of the manufacturers of the so-called "competitive" lines especially, the undersellers' source of supplies is steadily growing less, and the difficulty of stocking up with anything but the cheaper grades of reprints of old books is becoming even greater.

It now depends upon the bookseller, on whose behalf the effort is being made, to waive all minor objections and to give the movement for reform such loyal support that its success may be assured beyond a doubt. The leaders of the American Booksellers' Association thus far have done praiseworthy work in this direction; but there are still too many who do not consider the conditions exactly right, and who for that reason prefer to remain neutral, instead of taking aggressive part in the work of the Association. To such we would reply that all the conditions in any movement for reform can never be such as exactly to suit or satisfy every one concerned. But when, as in the present case, the fundamental principle is one on which all are agreed, the local differences are mere details that in time may be either compromised or entirely settled. Therefore the reform movement deserves the hearty support of all who may be directly or indirectly interested in the profitable making, selling and buying of good literature.

A careful examination of the Index to Spring Announcements, printed elsewhere in this issue, will convince the thoughtful reader that the publishers have faith in the salable qualities of such good literature. The books announced fall a little short of last year's supply in number, but their literary quality is of a higher average. The slight falling off in quantity is partly owing to the fact that the English trade is holding back its more important books until after the coronation, and partly to the fact that the American publisher deems it a little early to announce books he cannot supply until a somewhat distant date.

With the coming on of summer, novels are largely called for, and this class of books, as usual, outnumbers all the others. Almost all our standard authors have a novel under way and many new names also are to appear in fiction. The subjects of these works of romance cover all the leading questions of the hour, and American novels are to outnumber the English ones.

America's peculiar place among the nations of the world has brought about an earnest study of our history, and several very important books are in preparation dealing with the problems of the immediate future. An epoch-making book in this field of American history will be "A Guide to the Literature of American History," edited by J. N. Larned, giving a complete bibliography of all books relating to American history, with descriptive and critical notes signed by experts in their special fields of knowledge. The political questions of the Philippines, expansion, Monroe doctrine, competition and tariff, commonwealth or empire, the mastery of the Pacific, etc., have all received the attention of authors whose names stand for conscientious, expert and convincing work.

Among the biographies announced are lives of Daniel Webster, Aaron Burr, Nathan Hale, Charles Eliot, the celebrated landscape architect; Father Marquette, very timely in view of the celebration of the great Louisiana purchase; Sir George Grove, the famous English composer; Sir Walter Besant, three new biographies of Napoleon and one of Bismarck. Music lovers have been specially considered in the announcements of several publishers. C. Sprague Sargent's monumental work on the Silva of North America will be completed; and a "Lexicon to the Poetical Works of John Milton" after the manner of Spears' "Concordance to Shakespeare" is to be brought out.

We desire to call the attention of the trade generally to the fact that the post-office, at any rate the one in New York, rigidly examines and scrutinizes most carefully all second-class matter that passes through its hands, and that all price marks or other written matter in books sent for editorial notice, or that may for some reason be returned to publishers, subjects such matter to a penalty that in some cases has been quite burdensome. A case has recently come to our notice where a publishing house received back several of its books in which the bookseller's price mark had not been erased, on which the penalty charges were over three dollars. In some cases it is possible to make a proper explanation and receive a rebate of the charges, but in many more cases the charges must be paid. Either way, omitting the erasure of price-marks or other memoranda from the book, burdens the receiver with expenditure of money or time, and very often with both. We think it is necessary only to give this word of warning to put the trade on their guard in this matter.

A BOOK COLLECTOR ROBBED.

Edward Kearney, employed by John D. Crimmins, was arrested March 12 on the charge of stealing a number of valuable books, manuscripts and autograph letters which had been in his care as custodian of the library at Mr. Crimmins's home, 40 East Sixty-eighth Street, New York. The thefts occurred while Mr. Crimmins was in the South, six weeks ago.

The library contains some valuable first editions and other books, including volumes of the Kelmscott Press with the authors' signatures. Some time after Mr. Crimmins returned home he noticed the absence of some of these books. When he investigated he found that books to the value of $2000 were missing. He also discovered that autograph letters of Robert Burns, Sir Walter Scott and George Washington were gone.

Kearney, who has been in Mr. Crimmins's employ for twenty-five years, declared at first that he could not account for the loss of the property. He confessed later that he had sold the books and letters to certain booksellers, and gave their names. Mr. Crimmins visited the booksellers and got back some of his property. One bookseller, however, refused to permit him to see the books, although Mr. Crimmins offered to pay for them the price the bookseller had given. Magistrate Mayo issued a subpœna for the bookseller to appear in court and remanded Kearney for examination.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

The seventh annual meeting of the Booksellers' League, held at the Aldine Association on the evening of March 12, was attended by upwards of sixty members and their friends, and was a most enjoyable affair. In a certain sense it was a love feast, the recipient of tokens of affection and appreciation being Mr. James S. Baker, the senior member of the Baker & Taylor Company, of New York.

After the dinner the President, S. E. Briggs, called the meeting to order. By common consent the reading of the minutes was dispensed with, and Secretary E. W. Johnson was called upon for his report, which was as follows:

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

March 12, 1902.

To the Members of the Booksellers' League:

Gentlemen: Your President and the Board of Managers take pleasure in presenting to you their report of the progress of the League for its seventh year.

Your board has held frequent meetings during the past year with good attendance, and much interest has been taken by the various members in the general advancement of the League.

During the past year the League has provided eight dinners, including the annual dinner, each of which we feel has been both entertaining and instructive.

There have appeared before us the following speakers, to whom many thanks are due:

Ernest Edwards, "Photo-Mechanical Printing Processes."

Ernest H. Crosby, "Why Bookmen Should be Vegetarians."

James Clarence Harvey, reading of original poems.

Professor Harry Thurston Peck, "Booksellers and Authors."

Dr. James M. Ludlow, "Perils of Authorship."

Thomas Vivian, "A Newspaper Sixty Years Ago."

Josiah Flynt Willard, "Life as a Tramp."

Joseph Gantz, "The Development of Printing."

Fleming H. Revell, "Conditions of the Trade in the West."

Dr. Henry Otis Dwight, "The Ups and Downs of Turkish Booksellers."

John Kendrick Bangs, "Over the Plum Pudding."

Henry Mayer, Chalk Talk.

The attendance at the dinners has also increased—298 having been present this year against 258 the year previous, which would indicate a growing interest. Our annual dinner this year surpassed in attendance those of former years, and yielded a small balance.

The Employment Bureau during the past year has done good work, as the following report from Mr. C. E. Bonnell will show:

REPORT OF EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Applications for positions from Feb. 12, 1901, to March 7, 1902	104
Applications from trade for help during the same period	54
Secured positions	25
Received from applicants who secured positions, $4.00.

Comparing this with last year's report we find that a better tone prevails throughout the trade and that fewer bookmen are out of employment.

The following report of our treasurer will be as pleasing as usual, and shows that we still have the balance on the right side:

We feel that the past year has been the banner year of the League's existence, and that the outlook for the future is a promising one.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the President and Board of Managers.

E. W. Johnson, Secretary.

The President then presented two proposed amendments to the constitution; the first to amend Sec. 1 of Art. x. so as to read, "There shall be an annual meeting of the League, which shall be held early in March," etc., (February instead of March having been printed by mistake in the copies of the constitution;) the second to amend the Article on Meetings, so as to read, "meetings may be held monthly" instead of "shall be held monthly." The amendments were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Briggs then called for nominations for a president for the ensuing year. John A. Holden, of Thomas Whittaker, was unanimously nominated and elected. The business meeting was then temporarily suspended in order to hear the speakers of the evening, who were introduced by the retiring president.

Mr. George Haven Putnam was first called upon, and spoke substantially as follows:

"It is a privilege to be associated with you here this evening; and yet it gives me a curious feeling to be here as a representative of the veterans of the trade. For I must admit that the guest of the evening and myself are book traders of the last century, and must talk about last century things. I doubt if you realize all the bother and trouble we had in the nineteenth century; in those days it was not always smooth sailing, with big profits; some books were failures, sometimes authors grumbled; but to-day all these troubles are passed away!"

The speaker continued: "I have great confidence in the standards of the American booktrade. Yet we can look to Europe for models which, while not to be followed always, are deserving of consideration. In Germany especially training is considered essential for the bookseller, and he considers himself nearly a professional man, and in social standing is certainly above retail dealers in other goods. Training is worth while not only for personal satisfaction, but it pays as a matter of capital for the individual and progress for the trade. German merchants crossing over to London crowd out the Englishmen on their own soil—and similarly in the English colonies—because they have taken more pains with their work. They have a higher standard of achievement, they get the places, and they hold them. Englishmen will not be able to hold even their home trade unless they set a professional standard for the trade such as has been set by the continental booksellers, particularly the Germans.

"I am not sermonizing to you experienced men, but I am laying down the idea of a standard for you to impress on your younger associates. Let us believe that the imperial progress of America will be a means of establishing this high standard. Let the booktrade be represented in our outermost possessions with the best trained men, who will stand comparison with the trained men from the Continent. Such an organization as this is a step in that direction, because here you take a professional view of your trade.

"Not only must we have the right sort of author and publisher, but also the intelligent bookseller to put the books before the people.

Like every trade, the book trade needs the facility of distribution, and in that line our guest here has been a veritable Vanderbilt. The bookseller must manage the channels of trade with the integrity of character, purpose, and action which secure confidence, and we cannot honor that combination too much. I am glad to add my word of hopefulness for the future years of the trade in the twentieth century."

Mr. Briggs then read the following letter of regret from Dr. Theo. L. Cuyler, who had been invited to be present:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 6, 1902.

My dear Mr. Briggs:

I regret exceedingly that my engagements will prevent me from accepting your kind invitation for March 12th.

It would give me great delight to join in "especially honoring" my beloved friend Mr. James Shaw Baker. He was, when in Brooklyn, a faithful member of my church; I once did him the great service of uniting him to his excellent wife; and he, in turn, has rendered me most valuable service as my liberal and honorable publisher. He can claim the credit that during his whole business career his name has never been affixed to any volumes that were not of the most pure and wholesome character.

Please to convey to him my hearty salutations and congratulations, and a most sincere "God bless you!" from His loving old time pastor,

THEODORE L. CUYLER.

Mr. Simon Brentano next spoke appreciatively of the great value to the retail trade of the Baker & Taylor Company. He went on to say that the organization of booksellers would benefit the publishers, for the interests of both are interwoven. "The American Publishers' Association has brought about a reasonable betterment in a reasonable time; and we look to it for further improvements which will permit the retail bookseller to reward in actual money, by the actual selling of books, our helpers—the men represented by this organization. At present the retail bookseller's December sales are supposed to pay the expenses of the other eleven months. Every January cold chills run down my back when my office door opens and my employes ask to interview me. I regret the business does not allow the payment of better salaries, but there is no other help than by getting better prices."

Mr. Nelson Taylor, of the Baker & Taylor Company, speaking from the standpoint of the jobber, said he had always held that the jobber was between the upper and the nether millstones—the publisher representing the upper and the retail bookseller the nether millstone. "The publishers always want to sell higher than Mr. Baker wants to pay; the booksellers want to pay lower than he asks. Both of them have much sympathy for him, and the publishers hope he will succeed, though they are at a loss to know how he will do it! But I think I have more real sympathy for Br. Baker than any one else, for between him and me there is never any difference as to prices!

"I am greatly delighted to find this universal respect and affection for Mr. Baker. If the Lord loves a cheerful giver, He must love also a cheerful worker, and that Mr. Baker has been; true, also, throughout, not only to expressed agreements, but to those implied agreements which grow out of business. It has been a great satisfaction to me to be associated with such a man."

Mr. John H. Dingman, of Charles Scribner's Sons, said he had been looking up old records, and had been impressed by the fact that about 1825 and soon after there sprang up in this country a large number of men who become thoroughly identified with publishing and bookselling who made their mark, and left names that live to-day as truly as the names of our authors who appeared about that time.

"The men who to-day have your respect because of these perpetuated names are not men who strove ambitiously to be famous; they were laborious workers—men who led lives of industry and therefore deserve the honor they have to-day.

"I believe we should make known to a living man our appreciation of his purposes in life, before he is dead. Tell him to his face we honor and love him, and say, 'You are such a man as I should like to be.'"

Mr. A. Growoll was the next speaker, and paid Mr. Baker the following tribute: "The thing that cheers me most on this occasion is that for once in a generation our profession does honor to one in its ranks during his lifetime—takes him by the hand, and cheers him with the thought that after all his labors have not been in vain or unrecognized, however scanty and uncertain the pecuniary reward may be. Judged by the measure and quality of such work as our friend and guest has performed for forty years, he should to-day be able to rest under his own vine and fig tree, removed from care and toil. As it is, the torch-bearer who lights the way for the scholar and searcher after information through the labyrinth of long-since forgotten literature and musty lore, partly through choice, but oftener through circumstance, rarely attains to that enviable condition.

"However, there is satisfaction in doing work conscientiously and well, and this satisfaction Mr. Baker may take in full measure. It is through such men as he that our profession holds the high place in the estimation of the educated world to-day, and in honoring him, we doubly honor ourselves."

The following resolution was then read by Mr. Dingman and adopted by the League:

The members of the Booksellers' League assembled at their seventh annual meeting, esteem it a pleasure to welcome as their guest of honor Mr. James Shaw Baker, of the Baker & Taylor Co., of New York City.

In looking back upon his long career as bookseller and publisher, we bear witness that his courteous and gentlemanly bearing, his wise and discriminating counsel, his unswerving integrity, and his unceasing efforts to elevate the ideals of his profession, are but the indications of his manly character in all the phases of his life. As men who meet him day by day, and who are conscious of the wide influence he exerts upon others, we are glad to make so public an expression of our respect and regard for him, and it is resolved that the Secretary be directed to enter this declaration upon the minutes of this meeting, as part of the proceedings thereof, and to forward to Mr. Baker a copy of the same.

Mr. Baker, who was then called upon to speak, evidently had been deeply moved by the many sentiments of regard for him expressed during the evening, and modestly referred to them only in the few words he felt necessary to explain his gratitude. He then told something of the earlier days of the jobbing business.

"I have been in the trade longer than most of you," he said, "but the years have been pleasantly spent. There have been great changes in that time. There were once ten or twelve general jobbing houses in this city, and a corresponding number in Philadelphia and Boston. So far as I know, there are none left now. The house into which I came has continued without a break to the present day, but east of Chicago there is no house like ours engaging in both schoolbook and general book jobbing.

"There were two seasons in the early days —one from the middle of March till late in April, and the other from August till late fall. Christmas and New Year's were not holidays, the bookseller being obliged to work on both of those days. The buyers from the South and what is now the Central West came to New York, and mail orders were few. The Trade Sale feature is also now gone. These sales were attended by hundreds of buyers from all over the country, and large quantities of goods were sold, amounting to thousands of dollars; but gradually the attendance dwindled to a dozen or fifteen, and publishers found it no longer profitable to contribute books.

"In the business of making money a house will succeed if it gets a fair living profit rather than by cutting prices continually. The jobber must get his prices and profit, and it is far better for him to buy at 90 cents and sell at $1.08 than to buy at $1.08 and sell at 90 cents."

The meeting being called to order again by the new President, Mr. Holden, a rising vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening and one to retiring President S. S. Briggs for his services was moved and adopted. A vote of thanks to Mr. Brigham, the treasurer, for his services, was also adopted. The following were elected directors for the ensuing year: S. Edgar Briggs, Charles A. Burkhardt, D. Fitzgerald, Francis Gilman, A. Growoll and S. L. Walker.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

HUDSON COUNTY NEWSDEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

Upwards of forty newsdealers met last week in Central Hall, 350 Central Avenue, Jersey City, to form an association for mutual protection. The result was the formation of the Hudson County Newsdealers' Association, with the following officers: H. Halschur, president; J. Gumby, vice-president; L. Bratbeck, secretary; G. Freible, corresponding secretary; H. Durlan, treasurer, and L. Berlin, sergeant-at-arms. A resolution was adopted not to serve newspapers to a customer who owes money to a fellow-member. A blacklist of such delinquents will be presented at the meetings of the association, which are to be held every Friday night. The address of L. Bratbeck, the secretary, is 454 Central Avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

PIRACY OF SONGS IN ENGLAND.

A deputation of musical copyright owners called on Ambassador Choate, March 7, and urged him to make representations to the British Government regarding the piracy of songs. Charles Sheard headed a delegation which represented the American houses of Ditson, Witmark, Stearn, Church, Harms and others. Representatives of English firms who have rights in American songs were also present.

The deputation called the Ambassador's attention to the fact that the firms interested were spending several thousand pounds sterling every year in prosecuting cases of piracy, but that the punishments inflicted were inadequate.

Mr. Choate suggested that the members of the deputation should submit their grievances to Secretary of State Hay.

Many members of Parliament, according to a special cable to the New York Herald, "are expressing sympathy for the unfortunate victims of song piracy, as it is estimated that about three thousand honest music sellers are suffering severely through the unscrupulous operations of the song pirates."

Dean & Co., a large London firm of music publishers, claim that what is required from Parliament is the power to heavily fine any person selling pirated copies of music, or, in default of fine, to impose a term of imprisonment.

OBITUARY NOTES.

Bishop John Franklin Spalding, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Denver, Colo., died at Erie, Pa., March 9. Bishop Spalding was born in Belgrade, Me., August 25, 1828, and became Bishop of Colorado in 1873. He was the author of a number of books, the best known of which are "A Devotional Manual," and "The Church and Its Apostolic Ministry."

Captain Gaetano Casati, the African explorer, died in Rome, Italy, March 7. He was born at Monza in 1838. When twenty-one he joined the army, and was quickly promoted, but fascinated by the stories of adventures in Africa he resigned his commission and thereafter devoted himself to exploring the unknown parts of Africa. He told of his most exciting adventures in a book entitled "Ten Years in Equatoria," the English translation of which was published in 1891 by Frederick Warne & Co.

Miss Ellen Frothingham died in Boston March 11, aged sixty-seven. Her father was the Rev. Nathaniel Langdon Frothingham, D.D., for many years pastor of the First Church in Boston. Miss Frothingham early gained prominence as a German scholar, and in 1867 she translated from the German Lessing's "Nathan, the Wise," which is considered the best English translation of the work ever made. The last work which she undertook was the poems of "Therese," which she translated in 1899.

Benjamin Franklin Stevens, the well-known bookseller and bibliographer, died March 5 at his residence, "The Sheaves," at Surbiton in Surrey, Eng. Mr. Stevens, who was often affectionately alluded to by Americans in London as the "father of the American colony," was born in Barnet, Vt., in 1833. He was the son of Henry Stevens, the founder and first president of the Vermont Historical Society. He entered the University of Vermont in 1853, but did not finish the course on account of ill health. In 1860 he went to London and joined his brother Henry, (the "Green Mountain boy" bookseller and bibliographer, who died sixteen years ago,) in the bookselling business. From the first he devoted a large part of his time to bibliography. With a staff of assistants he was engaged for thirty years in making a manuscript chronological and alphabetical catalogue index of American papers in England, France, Holland and Spain from 1763 to 1784. He made facsimiles of over 2000 historical manuscripts in European archives relating to America, 1773-83, with descriptions, translations, etc. He also published a facsimile, photographed from the original in the Foreign Office, at Paris, of the MS. Codex of Columbus's "His Own Book of Privileges, 1502," with English translations, etc.: "The Campaign in Virginia, 1781," being the Clinton-Cornwallis controversy; and General Sir William Howe's orderly book and the correspondence between the British Government and General Howe. He calendared for the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts the American portion of the Earl of Dartmouth's papers, and was recently engaged in calendaring the headquarters papers of General Sir William Howe, Sir Henry Clinton and Sir Guy Carleton, and was also compiling unpublished manuscript papers pertaining to the provincial troops and the loyalists during the American Revolution. The name and address, "B. F. Stevens, No. 4, Trafalgar Square, London," is indelibly implanted in the memory of every man who has served in the United States Navy on the European and South Atlantic stations in the last thirty years, and through him unnumbered hundreds of homesick naval exiles from America have received loving words from home, for to him, as the American dispatch agent, was sent all the mail for the United States fleets on the Atlantic. It is through this service that his name has become familiar to the greatest number of Americans. He was married in 1865 to Charlotte Whittingham, daughter of Charles Whittingham, of the Chiswick Press, and an artist of some reputation, whose decorative designs often graced the issues of her father's press. Upon the death of his father-in-law, Mr. Stevens became manager of the Chiswick Press. His body was laid to rest in Kensal Green Cemetery on the 10th inst. Mr. Choate, the United States Ambassador, and the members of the United States Embassy attended the funeral services.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

Count Tolstoy, who is ill at Yalta, Crimea, is said to be very low.

Albert Bigelow Paine, the author of "The Van Dwellers" and "The Bread Line," is at work on a biography of Thomas Nast, the famous cartoonist.

George Ade's operetta, "The Sultan of Sulu," which has been set to music by Alfred G. Wathall, a young Chicago composer, was brought out in Chicago last week.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Buffalo, N. Y.—The Peter Paul Company has been incorporated to deal in books, pamphlets and periodicals. The capital is $40,000, and the directors are E. G. Dominick, A. R. Currie and J. H. Farguhareon, all of Buffalo.

New York City.—The Cassell Publishing Company, Ltd., will in the future not publish books here, but will make arrangements for the parent house in London to transfer them to American publishers. The agency as heretofore will remain under the management of W. T. Belding.

New York City.—Judge Leventritt, of the Supreme Court, on the 10th inst. appointed Jacques H. Hertz receiver of the assets of a partnership between Morton C. Bradley and James C. Yancey, which was formed on June 1, 1901, to procure the publication of "The History of Nations," in seventy-three volumes. The receiver is appointed for the assets of the joint venture, and is empowered to carry out existing contracts. Messrs. Bradley and Yancey claimed that the value of the copartnership property was $35,000.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

SMITH, ELDER & Co .will shortly publish a condensed edition of the "Dictionary of National Biography," containing a condensation of every article in the original edition and its supplement.

THOMAS B. MOSHER, Portland, Me., has just published "Æs Triplex, and other essays," by Robert Louis Stevenson, which forms a new volume in Mr. Mosher's Vest Pocket Series.

THE ABBEY PRESS announces a book by William J. Bryan made up of his editorials in The Commoner. It is modestly described as "a political and moral primer of the teachings of the great thinker and orator."

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., announces another new book for young people, entitled "His Mother's Letter," by J. M. Merrill, a story of the Michigan woods, describing the life of lumbermen.

THE JEWISH PUBLICATION SOCIETY OF AMERICA, 1015 Arch Street, Philadelphia, will issue March 14 "Hearth and Home Essays," by Esther J. Ruskay; and May 9, a collection of stories entitled "Strangers at the Gate," by Samuel Gordon.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY will publish soon "Forces in Fiction," essays by Richard Burton, on the elements of the treatment accorded the modern literature, as shown particularly in the romantic and historical novel, and in the later-day drama.

WILLIAM HOLMAN HUNT is writing his reminiscences, which should be quite as interesting to booklovers as they are sure to be to his fellow-painters. He was born in London in 1827, and is to-day the sole survivor of the founders of the Pre-Raphaelite school.

THE trade is requested to note that the price of the "History of Illinois Republicanism," by G. B. Raum, published by the Rollins Publishing Company, 161 La Salle Street, Chicago, is fifteen dollars, not five dollars, as inaccurately listed by us December 7, 1901.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will publish shortly Wichert's delightfully humorous little play, "Als Verlobte empfehlen sich," edited, with introduction, notes and vocabulary for first-year reading in college, or second-year reading in schools, by Professor George T. Flom, of the University of Iowa.

ELDER & SHEPARD, San Francisco, announce a new book by Wallace Irwin, author of "Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum," of which 12,000 copies have already been sold. The new book is entitled "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, Jr., a parody of Fitzgerald's version, with illustrations by Gelett Burgess.

"DAVID HARUM" has taken a hold upon the reading public in England and on the Continent. The requests from abroad for the book came in so fast that an edition of 100,000 copies was printed to supply the demand. This, with the regular home demand, brings the sales up to March 1 to the remarkable total of 650,5000 copies.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY has just published Gertrude Atherton's life of Alexander Hamilton under the title of "The Conqueror being the True and Romantic Story of Alexander Hamilton." E. F. Henderson's "Short History of Germany," to be published next week, will be dedicated to Prince Henry of Prussia, by his special permission.

ISAAC PITMAN & SONS, New York, announce for publication the twentieth century revision of their "Phonographic Teacher," which is the two million seven hundred thousandth edition. In point of numbers this is perhaps the largest sale ever enjoyed by any copyright work, and with the possible exception of the Bible and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the largest sale of any work.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have been commissioned by the Russian government to bring out in America "A Guide to the Great Siberian Railway," which in Russia is presented as an official document of the Minister of Ways of Communication. The English translation is by L. Kukol-Yasnopolskv, revised by John Marshall. The volume will contain two phototypes, 360 photogravures, four maps of Siberia and three plans of towns.

QUAIL & WARNER, New York, publish today "Young Howson's Wife, and Some Other Women," by A. C. Watrous, an editorial writer on one of the larger New York newspapers, who in these stories displays that wide knowledge of humanity in its varying moods that is acquired only by actual contact. The first half of the book contains sketches which are devoted to the married women, and the latter half relates to the unmarried.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will bring out at once the second series of the John Heneage Jesse "Memoirs," uniform with the first series issued last season. The new volumes include Richard III., George III., George Selwyn and his contemporaries, celebrated Etonians, and London and its celebrities. The reissue of these fascinating memoirs in this popular and attractive form will be considered a boon by booklovers and collectors, as the only other edition existing is a high-priced one published by subscription.

GEORGE P. HUMPHREY, 65 Spring Street, Rochester, N. Y., will publish this month or early in April a reprint of "The Discoveries of John Lederer, in three several Marches from Virginia to the West of Carolina and other parts of the Continent, begun in March, 1669, and ended in September, 1670 . . . collected and translated out of Latine from his discourse and writings, by Sir William Talbot." The edition will be limited to 300 copies, and will contain the map that accompanied the edition printed for Samuel Heyrick in 1672.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish in a specially luxurious style a reprint of Sir Walter Raleigh's account of "The Last Fight of the Revenge at Sea." The edition is to be in the style of the old English broadside, and bound as an imperial quarto in figured paper boards. The title-page will have a decorative woodcut border, inclosing a spirited illustration by Howard Pyle. The printing will all be done on a handpress, the title-page from the original wood blocks and the text from type. There will be three hundred copies printed on handmade paper.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & COMPANY will publish early in April "Angelot," by Eleanor C. Price,' a story of life during the days of Napoleon; "Mary Garvin," the story of a New Hampshire Summer," by Fred Lewis Pattee, with illustrations by W. E. Mears; "Self-Educator in English Composition," by G. H. Thornton, edited by John Adams, a new volume in the Self-Educator Series; also, "Shakesperean Synopses," by J. Walker McSpadden, giving outlines or arguments of all the plays of Shakespeare, and presenting each plot in connected reading form.

ONE of the disadvantages of the conditions of the copyright convention between the United States and Great Britain which makes simultaneous publication necessary is illustrated in the case that has obliged Harper & Brothers to postpone the publication of "The Beau's Comedy," which was set down for March 7. The copies intended for the English market, by which the English copyright is secured, are on the disabled Etruria; consequently the appearance of the book must be delayed till that unlucky ship can be unloaded and the copies sent to London and put on the market there.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY report that the first edition of 5000 of "Hester Blair," issued February 28, was quickly exhausted. But a second edition of 10,000, brought out March 4, has kept the trade supplied until the third edition, now in press, is ready. They announce that they will publish about the middle of May "Miss Petticoats," the author of which is entirely unknown to them. In the absence of any clue whatever they have given the name of Dwight Tilton as the author, hoping that this announcement might bring the author forward to acknowledge his work and to reveal his identity.

F. M. BUCKLES & Co. have just ready a story of America's shipping industry by George Ethelbert Walsh, author of "The Mysterious Burglar," entitled "Allin Winfield." The story is in part an historical novel, covering a period in our national life which has rarely been described in any work of fiction; but it may even more accurately be called a love story and a stirring romance of adventure than a work of historical fiction. The story of the old carver of ship's figureheads—representing a class of artist-artisans long since obsolete—and his apt pupil recall vivid pictures of days when our clippers and brigs were the pride of the sea.

JAMES POTT & COMPANY have just ready "Authors of Our Day in their Homes," giving personal descriptions and interviews, as a companion volume to "American Authors and their Homes," which came out in September of last year. The new volume includes interviews with Mark Twain, Theodore Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Edwin Markham, Edward Everett Hale, James Lane Allen, Marion Crawford, Joel Chandler Harris, and fourteen others equally well known. Sixteen illustrations are given. An introduction on the general subject of "Authorship in America" shows that 8000 persons have written books in this country since the country was first settled. The articles appeared originally in the New York Times Saturday Review of Books. They have been edited by Francis W. Halsey, who has made considerable additions in adapting them to the purposes of publication in book form.

THE JOHN C. WINSTON COMPANY, of Philadelphia, have purchased from the International Bible Agency, of New York, the entire stock, plates, copyrights and goodwill of the International Teachers' Bibles. This series embraces nearly five hundred distinct styles, (including all sizes of types and styles of bindings,) of the Authorized and Revised versions, with self-pronouncing or with unmarked text, with and without references and with or without teachers' helps. The new illustrated instructive helps are based on the results of modern investigations and scholarship, in preparing which such authorities as Drs. James Stalker, John H. Vincent, William Rainey Harper, Jesse L. Hurlbut and others have co-operated. The maps were prepared under the direction of Major Claude R. Conder, who was sent by the British government to make a survey of the Holy Land. They have in preparation a long-primer Teachers' Bible printed on India paper.

LEGGAT BROTHERS, (Ammon & Mackel,) New York, have purchased the library of the late Professor Appleton Park Lyon, which is so well known to cultured New Yorkers, having been available for many years as a reference library to professional people and business men of all classes. The collection consists of about 12,000 bound volumes and 10,000 pamphlets, and is a well-equipped and most complete reference library. Professor Lyon, as an educator, collected information on almost every topic; he was consulted by students, doctors, lawyers, teachers, writers, actors, managers, merchants, bankers and many others, his library having been a sort of a popular intelligence office. Professor Lyon having been at work on a botanical encyclopædia, collected one of the most valuable botanical libraries in the country; books from France, England and Germany are included, as well as contributions from publishers of various botanical, horticultural and kindred papers.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. announce for early publication "A Grand Duchess and Her Court," by Frances Gerard, author of "The Romance of Ludwig II. of Bavaria." This is the biography of Anna Amalia, Duchess of Saxe-Weimar and Eisenach, made up from the private papers in the archives at Weimar, which have never before been published. Special permission was granted by the late Grand Duke of Weimar and Eisenach who took a personal interest in this work. The book will be found replete with anecdotes and new matter concerning the personages who made Weimar so celebrated in the eighteenth century, such as Goethe, Schiller, Herder, Wieland, Charlotte von Stein, and many others. They will also publish shortly an "Anthology of Victorian Poetry," edited by the Right Hon. Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff, late Governor of the Madras Presidency, with introduction and notes. This book will be especially interesting, as it contains selections from many poets whose works are known but are more or less difficult of access.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish this spring a volume entitled "The Reasonableness of Faith," by the Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, the rector of St. George's, in New York who has done about as much as any man of our time to spread a practical and courageous Christianity for these days of the strenuous ideal; also, "The Empire of Business," by Andrew Carnegie, which in a dozen chapters gives the author's most direct opinions on fortune winning and the uses of wealth, together with discussions on the principles of industrial enterprise, the tariff, and many other matters that interest the man of affairs. They have in preparation a portfolio of "Nature Portraits," intended to show the fascination of real wild life and the latest achievements of nature photography. The pictures include live birds, animals, fishes and insects, and are the best work of such men as A. Radcliffe Dugmore, W. E. Carlin, A. G. Wallihan, Herbert K. Job, and L. N. Brownell, while many of the camera shots are reproduced in color, photogravure and as artist's proofs on Japan tissue. The text will be by the editor of Country Life in America.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish at once "A Damsel or Two," a new novel, dealing with the career of a daring English Stock Exchange broker, by F. Frankfort Moore, author of "The Jessamy Bride," etc. They will also publish a new edition of the "Personal Memoirs of Philip Henry Sheridan." The original story, written by the general himself, ended with the year 1871. The remaining seventeen years of his life are described in this new edition by his brother, Brigadier-General Michael V. Sheridan. The new story includes General Sheridan's part in preserving order after the Chicago fire, the political complications that followed his experiences in Louisiana, his leadership in Indian campaigns, his hunting trip with the Grand Duke Alexis, his services as commanding general of the army, and other features of his later life. The next volume in their Literatures of the World Series will be a work on "Modern Scandinavian Literature," by Dr. George Brandes, who sketches the evolution of the poetry of the North, and the varying phases of literary expressions in Iceland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, giving a comprehensive view of a rich field, with special reference to modern literature.

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE, 18 Boylston Street, Boston, has in preparation ten diminutive volumes similar in get-up to the Breviary edition of the Rubaiyat published by him about ten years ago, to be entitled The Breviary Treasures. The series, which will be illustrated and decorated under the personal supervision of Howard Pyle, will comprise (1) The Odes of Anacreon in the original Greek, with English translations and paraphrases; (2) Selections from the Gesta Romanorum; (3) "The Eclogues of Virgil," translated by Sir Charles Brown; (4) Selected translations from Epictetus; (5) a prose translation of the Argonautica of Apollonius Rhodius; (6) choice satires and epistles of Horace, with English translations and imitations; (7) Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius; (8) Laurence Sterne's posthumous work, "The Koran," reprinted from a copy owned by General Frankel, of Haverhill; (9) the sixth book of the Odyssey, in English; and (10) the odes of Pindar, translated from the Greek by Dr. Gilbert West and others. This series will be printed only for subscribers, and no subscriptions will be received after April 15.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. will issue in the early fall a new edition of the "Lewis and Clarke Travels," in standard library form at a moderate price. The travels are now practically unobtainable in any form, the Coues edition being out of print and there being no available trade edition of any kind. For the text the Philadelphia edition of 1814 will be used, and the work will be under the supervision of Dr. James K. Hosmer, the well-known authority in Western and Northwestern history and exploration. Dr. Hosmer will supply an introduction and a complete index. They also announce that they are planning an extensive series of reprints of Americana, in elegant form and limited editions. They will inaugurate this series in the fall with the issue of "Hennepin's Travels," under the editorship of Reuben Gold Thwaites. For the text Mr. Thwaites will use the edition of 1698, and the maps and illustrations will be reproduced in facsimile. The work will be thoroughly annotated by Mr. Thwaites, who will also furnish an introduction and prepare the index. There will probably be two volumes, and the edition will be limited to one thousand copies, two hundred and fifty of which will be on large paper. The Hennepin will be followed in 1903 with other important issues, which will be announced later.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly "The Mystery of Justice," a volume of essays by Maurice Maeterlinck; "Michael Ross, Minister," a story of English village life, by Annie E. Holdsworth; also, "At the Back of Beyond," a study of Irish life and manners, by Jane Barlow, author of "Irish Idylls," etc. They have in preparation an important historical work in two volumes, entitled "The Guardian of Marie Antoinette: the Secret Correspondence of Maria Theresa and the Comte d'Argenteau," which was undertaken with the permission and assistance of the present Countess d'Argenteau, (Princess Montgylon,) the representative of the Argenteau family, and has as a nucleus the secret correspondence between the Comte de Mercy-Argenteau, who was deputed by the Empress to be the guardian of Marie Antoinette, as well as holding the post of Minister Plenipotentiary from Vienna to the Court of France. These letters form a continuous account of the daily life of the Queen of France from 1770 to 1780, and give minute descriptions of court life, customs, dress, etc. The illustrations include reproductions of the portraits of Maria Theresa, Louis XVI., Marie Antoinette, the Emperor Joseph, and others, which will all be published for the first time, having been presented by the royal persons themselves to the Argenteaus.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have in preparation "The Assassins," a romance by Nevill Myers Meakin, in which the Old Man of the Mountain and his emissaries of death, of whom Hewlett gives an interesting glimpse in his "Richard Yea and Nay," appear as protagonists; "The Winding Road," a new novel by Miss Elizabeth Godfrey, favorably known through her musical novels, "Poor Human Nature," etc.; Anthony Hope's "Dolly Dialogues," with the four new dialogues and illustrations by Christy, uniform with his other books brought out by this firm; also, "Schiller's Poems," translated by E. P. Arnold-Forster. In other departments they announce Seignobos's "Narrative and Critical History of the Roman People;" Professor August Fournier's "Napoleon I.;" the second volume of Professor J. P. Gordy's "Political History of the United States;" Tarde's "The Laws of Imitation," translated by Mrs. Herbert Parsons, Ph.D.; "Outlines of Ethics," by Professor John Dewey and J. M. Tufts; "A Manual of Logic," by Professor Herbert A. Aikins; a volume of "Standard English Prose," by Henry S. Pancoast; "Public Exposition and Argumentation," by Professor George P. Baker; "Variations in Animals and Plants," by Dr. H. M. Vernon; "An Italian and English Dictionary," by Professor Hjalmar Erdgren, Dr. G. Bico, and J. L. Gerig; and "A Spanish Grammar," with exercises for drill, by Professor M. M. Ramsey, of Leland Stanford University, author of "A Text-book of Modern Spanish."

PICK-UPS.

AN aspiring American poet, who had met Andrew Lang in London, recently wrote a satire in emulation of Homer's "Battle of the Frogs and Mice." The young poet thought he would go "one better" than Homer, and described in most realistic style the warfare between two factions of mites inhabiting a piece of cheese. He sent the manuscript to Mr. Lang with a request for the famous critic's opinion. In a few weeks the answer came. "My Dear Sir," wrote Mr. Lang, "I have read your satire and am delighted with it. You are worthy to be called the Gorgon-Zola of literature."—New York Times.

A WELL-KNOWN publisher in the Bible House, New York, has a scripture wall-roll entitled "Heavenly Sunshine." On one occasion a clerk wishing to replenish the retail stock, shouted through the speaking tube to the wholesale department, located in the basement, "Send up some 'Heavenly Sunshine.'" A clerical wag, standing nearby, inquired, "Young man, would it not be more appropriate to call it down from above than up from below?" The same publisher has on his trade list a story entitled "Where the Brook and River Meet," by Nellie Hellis. A recent library order for the book read thus: "Hell is, Where the Brook and River Meet." J. A. H.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

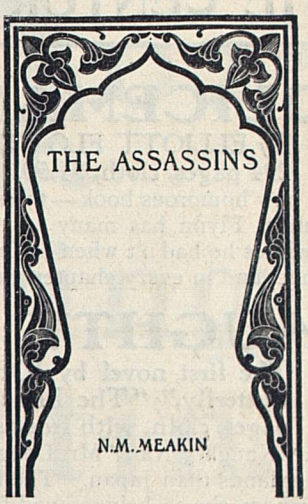
12mo, $1.50

This new book will increase the numbers of Miss Godfrey's admirers. A story filled with the breath of out-doors. It recounts vividly the struggle between a roving instinct which draws the hero to a life of ceaseless tramping over the face of the earth, and an intense love which ought to lead him to a settled home. The gentle fiddler, a wanderer because he loves Nature and the common people, and the sturdy country girl willing to go against her nature and experience for love of him carry their interesting romance through rare by-ways of Europe.



12mo, $1.50

A new author of decided power here takes for his central theme "The Assassins" of the "Old Man of the Mountains" whom Scott and Hewlett only touched upon in episode. Mr. Meakin has worthily worked the fascinating field for the imagination opened by their half legendary story. Among the prominent figures of course is Sultan Saladin, whom the author has treated most sympathetically and from a point of view not hitherto exploited.

THE CENTURY CO.'S NEW BOOKS

POLICEMAN FLYNN

Now Ready.

By ELLIOTT FLOWER. Illustrated by Frederic Dorr Steele. 12mo, 294 pages, cloth, $1.50.

A new humorous book—the story of a most delightful Irish-American character. Policeman Flynn has many adventures—he quells a riot, he stops an automobile (and wishes he had n't when he finds that he is expected to "run it in"), he discusses marriage, and in every chapter there are humor and human nature.

NAUGHTY NAN

Now Ready.

The first novel by JOHN LUTHER LONG, author of "Madame Butterfly," "The Prince of Illusion," and other stories. 12mo, 418 pages, cloth, with frontispiece in color, $1.50.

In "Naughty Nan" Mr. Long has proved himself a master-hand at love-making in other lands than Japan. The heroine is an up-to-date girl who has many lovers, from whom she is being saved for a young English theological student by a cousin who has been allotted to this duty by Nan's aunt. It is plain from the first that the cousin and Nan care for each other, and the comedy that follows is full of badinage and is deliciously witty.

THE LITTLE BROTHER

Ready March 22

By JOSIAH FLYNT, author of "Tramping with Tramps," "The World of Graft," etc. Frontispiece in color. 12mo, 275 pages, cloth, $1.50.

This is the first piece of fiction by Mr. Flynt, and was written to let the public see where a number of stray boys land. The story is full of realism, with many touches of human nature. It is gathered from the author's vast personal experiences.

HOHENZOLLERN

Ready April 5.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY. Illustrated by Will Crawford, with decorations by Mills Thompson. 12mo, 300 pages, cloth, $1.50.

"Hohenzollern" was published as a serial in The Century under the title of "Barbarossa," but the name was changed so that its title should be that of the real hero. The scene is laid in the twelfth century and the characters include Frederick of Germany, surnamed Barbarossa, the Count von Hohenzollern, and the Countess Matilda. The time occupies two days and is full of the most intense action.

One of the season's hits. Sold everywhere.

MRS. WIGGS of the CABBAGE PATCH

By ALICE CALDWELL HEGAN. In cloth, $1.00.

A charming book, "whose wide circulation will do an immense amount of good." "It is a second 'Birds' Christmas Carol' in its simplicity, its delicate mingling of humor and pathos, and its broad humanity."

AUDREY By Mary Johnston

Author of "To Have and To Hold" and "Prisoners of Hope." With illustrations in color from drawings by F. C. YOHN. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

Those who have read Miss Johnston's previous romances with great interest will find "Audrey" a worthy successor. It belongs to Colonial Virginia of a later period, when Colonel William Byrd and his beautiful daughter Evelyn were brilliant figures in the stately society which distinguished the colony. The woodland orphan, Audrey, is a most fascinating character, about whose life from childhood to radiant womanhood is woven a web of fateful circumstance. The reader's sympathy is hers from the first, and he grows to regard her with an affection in some degree like that which absorbs the hero Haward. There are fewer characters and scenes in "Audrey" than in Miss Johnston's other stories, yet with no diminution of variety or of interest. The characters stand out with vivid distinctness; the background of the Virginian scenery and life is sketched with marvelous clearness and breadth; and the narrative is wonderful for power, beauty, and life. The story is of profound interest, and its varied charm of style lifts it into the realm of high and enduring literature. The illustrations by Mr. Yohn are in admirable keeping with the story, and their reproduction in colors is so successful as to make them a positive addition to a book of very great attraction.

THE DIARY OF A GOOSE GIRL By Kate Douglas Wiggin

Author of "Penelope's Experiences," "The Birds' Christmas Carol," etc. Illustrated by Claude A. Shepperson. 12mo, $1.00.

Here we have a tale of a pretty American girl who ran away from her lover in England and played at being a goose girl. The fancy and humor for which Kate Douglas Wiggin's writing is famous have free range, and her wit scintillates over the pages like sunshine. Her sentiment for beauty finds abundant play in the descriptions of the tiny Sussex village where the heroine tended her flock. Among all the out-of-door books so greatly in vogue, this strikes a unique note. Mrs. Wiggin has succeeded in individualizing her hens, ducks, and geese, so that they are as interesting as human heroes and heroines, and all this is done with that rare sympathy which is after all the secret of the author's hold upon the public. The attractiveness of the book is heightened by lavish illustration. The quaint little houses "set about the Green like those in a toy village," the farmer's family and servants, and above all the poultry, have given the artist an unusual opportunity. He has furnished fifty-four drawings which make the reader well acquainted with Thornycroft Farm and its inhabitants.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN & CO

THE CHAMPION By Charles Egbert Craddock

Author of "The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains," "The Juggler," etc. With frontispiece illustration. 12mo, $1.20, net; postage extra.

This book for boys has the dash and "go," the abundance of interest, and the swift play of action, which characterize all of Charles Egbert Craddock's stories. The story is laid in that part of the South which seems to have become peculiarly the province of this author, and the scenes are described with that accuracy and distinction which complete familiarity and a genius for description alone make possible. A printer's "devil" in the office of a newspaper in a Southern city gets entangled in a web of mischances and, after a variety of exciting and threatening experiences, is finally extricated and cleared of blame. The story gives good pictures of Southern life, of theatrical performers and managers, and an interesting view of the interior workings of a provincial newspaper office.

THE DESERT AND THE SOWN

By Mary Hallock Foote

Author of "Cœur d'Alene," "The Led-Horse Claim," etc. With a frontispiece illustration. 12mo, $1.50.

Mrs. Foote has written several capital stories, but never one so strong and full of human interest as this. The scene shifts between a military post in the far West and the Dutch farming country near Newburg on the Hudson. The plot turns on the accidental separation of a man and his wife while traveling, and their belief in each other's death. They meet long after, but separated by long reaches of diverse circumstances, tastes, and habits. Do they resume their life together, and grow into the commonplace likeness of their neighbors? It would be unfair to the reader to tell here, but Mrs. Foote tells, and the story is powerful in delineation and development of character and in narrative interest.

THE CLAYBORNES By William Sage

Author of "Robert Tournay." With frontispiece illustration. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

This is a story of the War for the Union, and Mr. Sage has made a very careful study of the events and clashing opinions of the time, as before he studied the whirlwind of passion and of tragic events in the French Revolution.

Of two Virginia brothers, one who has been educated at West Point adheres to the Union cause; the other joins the Confederate force. The romance of the story is due to a Southern girl intensely devoted to the South, and a Northern girl equally devoted to the Northern side. The story begins at Richmond with the secession of Virginia; it includes the famous siege of Vicksburg; and it ends with the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. The historical element is marked and full of interest; for many readers the romantic element will be even more interesting.

ROMAN BIZNET By Georgia Wood Pangborn

With frontispiece illustration. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

Roman Biznet, the hero of this striking novel, is the son of a French Canadian half-breed, and grandson of a German musician. These varied strains of inheritance make him a most complex character. From his Indian grandmother he draws traits which form a grotesque contrast to his German passion for music and strange gift for playing the violin.

The keen interest of the novel springs from the intermingling of this strangely endowed personality with people of conventional ways and character, whom the author draws in high contrast to him and in excellent detail.

In style Roman Biznet is as distinctive as in plot. It is marked by an epigrammatic terseness and clearness of phrasing, and by rare insight into human motives.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN & CO.

THE SON OF A FIDDLER By Jennette Lee

Author of "A Pillar of Salt," etc. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

The story of a boy brought up on a New England farm in the days when family prayers, husking-bees, the Puritan conscience, and the district school were matters of course. In this somewhat austere setting, with an old fiddle and a dim, far-off memory of his father playing for company, the boy grew up. The second part of the story deals with the boy's life in Boston. There he finds his mother, whom he had supposed dead, playing leading lady at the Boston Theatre. He is naturally drawn into the life of the stage, and into the innocent toils of a being with violet eyes, curls, and velvet ribbons. The struggle for the hero between this "violet" being and an irascible old German violinist is vigorous, and in the breathing spells the boy is influenced by the memories of his father's fiddle.

BREAD AND WINE By Maude Egerton King

12mo, $1.25.

"Bread and Wine" is an idyllic story of Swiss peasant life. A husband and wife, after years of happy married life in their mountain village, have a quarrel. A serious misunderstanding arises, their happiness vanishes, and for a while they are very miserable. The simplest of plots! Yet the author has told the story with such wealth of detail, so much of the color and atmosphere of Swiss village life, and so complete sympathy with her characters, that the book is thoroughly charming.

JOHN KENADIE By Ripley D. Saunders

12mo, $1.50.

The story of John Kenadie's life is the story of a conflict in him of two natures — of a gentle, kindly nature that draws him into a close friendship, and a fiercer strain, born of Kentucky blood feuds, that turns his friendship for a time to hate. The course of his life is affected by a keen rivalry with his friend for the hand of a girl. This, culminating at the time when he learns of the feud between his father and the father of his friend, leads to a duel in which both are badly wounded. Both recover, however, and one of them wins the girl.

The field of the story — Arkansas — is a fresh one to novelists, and both scenes and characters have the charm of newness. The characters are drawn with that intimate fidelity to detail that comes only from mastery, and the dashes of landscape and local color are given with the touch of familiar knowledge.

The author has been for some years editorially connected with the St. Louis Republic, and writes, as will be plain to every reader, with thorough knowledge of Arkansas types and scenes.

TO THE END OF THE TRAIL

12mo, $1.50. By Frank Lewis Nason

This novel of the West breathes the space and freedom of Colorado ranch and mining life. Its characters are active, strenuous people, whose portraits are drawn with exceptional life-likeness — the hero, Chase, a prospector; Peter, an old miner; the Big Swede, a woman of the camps; Ingalls and his wife, all have the air of reality. And the story is full of swift, significant action, convincingly realistic, thoroughly well written, and increasing in interest up to its dramatic climax.

THE DIARY OF A SAINT By Arlo Bates

Author of "Love in a Cloud," "The Puritans," etc. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

The story of this novel is told by the heroine Ruth Privet in her diary, and is contained in the entries of one year. It was, however, an eventful year, crowded with experiences and impressions. At the beginning, Ruth was engaged to the man who had been brought up with her and educated by her father. At the end of the year she had established her right to the title of Saint, by her self-sacrifice and moral fineness, and incidentally had spread a sweet influence in the community. The central thought of the book is that saintship is a matter rather of conduct than theory; is ethical rather than religious. The structure of the novel — in the form of a diary — is very simple, and makes the development of events and character unusually clear.

NEW STORIES

By Bret Harte

Author of "Under the Redwoods," "From Sand Hill to Pine," "The Luck of Roaring Camp," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

Nine new stories by that prince of story-tellers, Bret Harte — vigorous tales of life in the West — are here collected in a volume for which, at this writing, a title has not yet been chosen. One of them is called "Colonel Starbottle for the Plaintiff;" another, "An Ali Baba of the Sierras;" and a third, "The Goddess of the Excelsior." These very titles conjure up anticipations of dare-devil, world-wandering heroes who, nevertheless, can do deeds of knightly courtesy when occasion arises. This volume has all the genial humor and picturesque charm of its predecessors.

IN THE DAYS OF GIANTS

By Abbie Farwell Brown

Author of "The Book of Saints and Friendly Beasts," and "The Lonesomest Doll." With illustrations by E. Boyd Smith. 12mo, $1.10, net.

Miss Brown here groups stories of the gods, giants, and dwarfs of the Norse mythology. She treats them as real beings, whose ambitions, rivalries, loves, and hates make stories of very great interest. Thor and his Hammer, Loki and his Mischief, Balder, and the great Odin, are clothed with fresh attractiveness by the lively fancy and unfailing humor with which Miss Brown invests her tales of them.

History and Biography

NEW FRANCE AND NEW ENGLAND

Crown 8vo. By John Fiske

This work forms the only remaining link needed to complete the chain of histories of this country, from the Discovery of America to the Adoption of the Constitution, upon which Dr. Fiske had for so many years been engaged, and the achievement of which was his great ambition.

This final volume shares with all Mr. Fiske's work the great qualities of his mind and the rare grace of his style. It presents in broad philosophic manner the causes and events which marked the victory on this continent of the English civilization over the French. The story is full of dramatic incidents, brightened by the figures of many notable characters. All significant aspects of the period surveyed, Mr. Fiske has firmly grasped and clearly portrayed, and the work is an important addition to the literature of history.

New France and New England will be issued in one volume, uniform with the earlier volumes of Mr. Fiske's historical works.

LEE AT APPOMATTOX, AND OTHER PAPERS

By Charles Francis Adams

Crown 8vo, gilt top.

Into this volume Mr. Adams has gathered some of the results of his long and valuable experience of affairs. The papers here printed cover a wide range, — two are upon the war now going on in South Africa; one is upon the need of a higher tone in our political discussions; the closing paper, "A Plea for Military History," is a criticism on the defective treatment of military operations by historians. But all the papers are weighty with the wealth of experience gained by travel, by the practice of great affairs, and by association with statesmen and others in whose hands rest the heavy responsibilities of commerce and diplomacy.

The title paper of this volume, "Lee at Appomattox" has attracted much notice in Great Britain, and was quoted in a recent debate in the House of Commons. An English publisher has just issued an edition of five thousand copies of it.

CHARLES ELIOT, LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

With 3 portraits, 63 full-page illustrations, besides sketches and maps. 8vo.

This work partakes of the character of biography and also of art. It describes (1) the short but fruitful life of Charles Eliot; (2) how he got his training as landscape architect; (3) the enjoyment of landscape at home and in travel; (4) the physical features of enjoyable landscape; (5) the landscape art — what it can do, and what it should aim to do; (6) the means of promoting and carrying on public landscape works; and (7), as illustration of the above, the methods and achievements of the Metropolitan Park Commission (Boston), to which he was landscape adviser during its first five years.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN & CO.

These things are set forth, not in the above order, but in the chronological sequence of Charles Eliot's experiences and labors. President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University has given the work careful oversight and editing; it consists mainly of the letters, reports, and published writings of his son Charles Eliot.

THE LIFE OF JOHN RUSKIN

By W. G. Collingwood

Author of "The Life and Works of John Ruskin." With photogravure frontispiece. Large crown 8vo, $2.00, net; postage 16 cents. This volume meets the need of a compact, yet authoritative Life of Ruskin. Mr. Collingwood was for years Ruskin's private secretary and one of his most intimate friends. It is not a mere reprint of the earlier two-volume biography. "The whole has been rewritten," says Mr Collingwood, "on somewhat different lines. I have been able to add much new biographical detail from various sources. . . . With Mr. Ruskin's leave, I have given a number of letters hitherto unpublished, and the story, unfinished before, is now brought to its close."

DANIEL WEBSTER By Samuel W. McCall

Mr. McCall, who has won national attention by his reasonable independence and marked ability in Congress, and who wrote the strong and discriminating "Life of Thaddeus Stevens" for the American Statesmen Series, here recounts with brevity and point the chief incidents in Webster's career and his more important services to his country. Without undertaking an exhaustive survey of Webster's life, he presents with great clearness and directness and with a very just appreciation those characteristics and achievements which were most distinctive, and which best entitle him to the admiring memory of the American people.

RIVERSIDE BIOGRAPHICAL SERIES

In this group of compact volumes showing American history in the making, through the lives of leaders in the various fields of human activity, volumes of marked value and interest have already appeared on Andrew Jackson, James B. Eads, Benjamin Franklin, Peter Cooper, Thomas Jefferson, William Penn, John Marshall, General Grant, Lewis and Clark, Paul Jones, Washington Irving, and Alexander Hamilton.

Additional volumes are in preparation as follows: —

STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, by WILLIAM GARROTT BROWN, author of "The Life of Andrew Jackson," in this series.

SAMUEL DE CHAMPLAIN, by HENRY D. SEDGWICK, JR.

GEORGE ROGERS CLARK, by FREDERICK J. TURNER.

Each 16mo, with photogravure portrait. The price of all volumes is now made uniform, 65 cents, net; postpaid, 71 cents; School Edition, with half-tone portrait, 50 cents, net.

Mr. Brown's book has the special value of being the first careful attempt to form an estimate of Douglas from the point of view of this generation. It gives a graphic account of Douglas's swift rise to a commanding position before the country, and depicts forcibly and justly the striking features of his career and character. The association and contrast of Douglas and Lincoln are effectively described; and the book is one of the best and most interesting of all the volumes in this series.

Mr. Sedgwick writes of the great French explorer and colonizer with keen understanding of French life and character, and with abundant knowledge of the whole period of Champlain's career. He has, consequently, painted this knight of France with rare vividness, making his adventures, his statesmanship, his daring, and his prudence as clear to us as the qualities of men of our time. It is a most acceptable and noteworthy addition to this series of American Biographies.

Professor Turner brings to his task much unpublished material that enables him to portray with fidelity the conditions under which Clark's early life was spent; the characteristics of life in Kentucky and the old Northwest which led to his brilliant military expedition into the Illinois country, where this stern and daring frontiersman won his fame as conqueror of the Northwest; and also the contrast of all this in the later career of Clark as an adventurer seeking to use the flags of Spain and France respectively. This is the most reliable and authentic life of the "Maker of Indiana" hitherto obtainable.

THE REMINISCENCES OF A DRAMATIC CRITIC By Henry Austin Clapp

With numerous portraits. Large crown 8vo.

In "The Reminiscences of a Dramatic Critic," Mr. Henry Austin

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN & CO.

Clapp, who has been recognized for many years as the leading exponent in New England of honest and discriminating criticism of the drama, reviews the chief features of the stage of the past quarter of a century, commenting succinctly and vividly upon the art of the greatest actors of the period, the quality of modern theatrical literature, and the promise of the American Theatre of the future. Incidentally, the fairy plays and melodramas of the old régime, the reign of T. W. Robertson, the Boston Museum of the elder day, the peculiarities and possibilities of the histrionic profession, and the value of a possible Privately-Endowed Theatre are discussed. Of the players considered, William Warren, Charlotte Cushman, the elder Sothern, Charles Matthews, Charles Fechter, Edwin Booth, Tommaso Salvini, Signora Piamonti, and Adelaide Neilson, are the salient figures upon Mr. Clapp's glowing canvas.

AN AMERICAN AT OXFORD

12mo. By John Corbin

Mr. Corbin is a Harvard man who has been in residence at Oxford, and has seen much of English life. His book has unusual charm and grace of style, and is informed with exceptional knowledge of American as well as English Universities. It recalls at times Andrew Lang's delightful volume on Cambridge, and has the added advantage for Americans that it keeps always the American point of view. Mr. Corbin covers in his narrative the whole range of college activities, out-door and in-door life, athletics and clubs, examinations and amusements, the university and the outside world. He deals lightly with the history of Oxford, its splendid past and its great influence on English life, and in the light of this history and study touches on the problems which now concern the American university, the social and athletic problem, the administrative and educational, and the large question of the service of the University to the country.

EDUCATION AND LIFE

Crown 8vo. By C. Hanford Henderson

Mr. Henderson here presents education as a human enterprise of the utmost interest and importance. He regards it as a process for realizing the social purpose, which is human wealth, — a process for producing beautiful men, women, and children, — persons of power, accomplishment, and goodness.

The book is both a criticism of existing conditions and a clear indication of the way to a better order. Mr. Henderson regards it as the chief end of educational endeavor to increase human health and happiness. He strongly favors kindergartens, manual training schools, small classes, experimental and laboratory methods in teaching. The book is not only suggestive and informing, but is written with much vigor and conviction, and is thoroughly interesting.

MOLIÈRE By Leon H. Vincent

Author of "Hôtel de Rambouillet," "The French Academy," and "Corneille." In old French style like preceding volumes, and with engraved title-page. 18mo, gilt top, 85 cents, net.

Mr. Vincent has taken as the subject for the fourth of his essays on French society and letters in the seventeenth century, the greatest figure of the time, Molière. This brilliant genius, the foremost of French dramatists, had a career that was full of movement, distinction, and honorable activity. In his youth he chose the stage for his profession, and for many years was famous both as an actor and a playwright.

The varied aspects of this exceptional career have given Mr. Vincent a rare opportunity, and he has availed himself of it to make of this volume a most attractive addition to a series which has proved itself of great interest and value to lovers of literature and exquisite book-making.

ETERNALISM: A THEORY OF INFINITE JUSTICE By Orlando J. Smith

Crown 8vo, gilt top.

This essay is a stimulating argument for the preëxistence of the soul. It is written in a clear, vigorous style, and supports its case by scientific evidence as well as abstract reasoning. Creation and Annihilation, the author maintains, are alike unknown to science, and our own idea of Infinite Justice can be satisfied by nothing less than the theory here presented of re-incarnation.

The temper of the book is admirable, and the simplicity and force of its style are not inappropriate to its high theme. The volume is one to command the attention of thoughtful readers.

NATURE AND HUMAN NATURE

By Ellen Russell Emerson

Author of "Indian Myths," "Masks, Heads, and Faces." 12mo, $1.25, net; postage 13 cents.

Mrs. Emerson in this book treats of the efforts that men have made to interpret the world through art. She discusses first the ideals in men's minds, then the various forms in which they have sought to embody these, — in music, painting, sculpture, and architecture. A specially interesting interpretation is given of landscape painting and Gothic architecture, with reference to the spiritual qualities which give to pictures and to buildings their significance. The book appeals especially to those who believe that there can be no great art which is not an expression of high ideals.

RIVERSIDE ART SERIES

There have already appeared in this series ten volumes, which serve a very useful purpose as introductions to the masterpieces of Art by Raphael, Rembrandt, Michelangelo, Millet, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Murillo, Titian, Greek Sculpture, Landseer, and Correggio. They are recognized as well adapted for beginners in Art Study and for use in Schools. Each number has about 100 pages of explanatory text and valuable introductory matter; and each of those devoted to a single artist contains 15 full-page representative pictures and a portrait of the artist. 12mo, each, 75 cents, net; postpaid, 83 cents; School Edition, cloth, 50 cents, net; paper, 35 cents, net.

Two additional volumes are nearly ready, edited by ESTELLE M. HURLL.

TUSCAN SCULPTURE.

VAN DYCK.

The "Tuscan Sculpture" contains an Essay on Some Characteristics of Tuscan Sculpture of the Fifteenth Century, a list of Books of Reference, an Historical Directory of the Pictures in this Volume, and a Table of Biographical Data. Among the sculptures represented are: Musical Angels, St. John the Baptist, St. George, The Equestrian Statue of Gattamelata, and Il Marzocco (the Heraldic Lion of Florence), by Donatello; Meeting of St. Francis and St. Dominick, Bambino, and The Annunciation, by Andrea della Robbia; The Infant Jesus and John, and The Shrine, by Mino da Fiesole; and six other masterpieces.

The "Van Dyck" will contain fifteen of the artist's most characteristic paintings, with his portrait, a biographical sketch, and the careful editorial equipment which marks the series.

A PROSE TRANSLATION OF DANTE'S DIVINA COMMEDIA By Charles Eliot Norton

New Edition, from new plates. With Notes. 3 vols. crown 8vo, $4.50.

Mr. Norton's previous translation of the "Divine Comedy," published ten years ago, was at once recognized as a most admirable rendering into English prose of the great masterpiece of Italian literature. But Mr. Norton has devoted years of further study to the work, and in this new edition he gives the results of the most careful revision, which secures a still more faithful reflection of Dante's meaning and bears fresh evidence of the translator's profound and scrupulous scholarship. Besides the revisions in the translation, many new notes have been added. The work is printed with great care from new plates and brought out in attractive library form.

THE ARGIVE HERAEUM Edited by Charles Waldstein, Ph.D., L.H.D., Litt.D.

Author of "Essays on the Art of Pheidias," etc. With 75 full-page plates and nearly 400 other illustrations. 2 vols. large quarto, $30.00, net; postage extra.

This important work, prepared under the joint direction of the Archæological Institute of America and the American School at Athens, illustrates the rich results of excavations made under American auspices upon the soil of ancient Greece. The excavations which have had notable results, artistic and historical as well as archæological, were made in Argolis upon the Heraeum, — the chief seat in Greece of the worship of Hera, a famous ancient shrine. It is shown that the Heraeum was a sanctuary of much magnificence, and a wealth of sculpture, of pottery, and bronze ornaments is disclosed. This work of research is one of uncommon importance, and a peculiar honor to American scholarship.

SOCIAL SALVATION By Washington Gladden

Author of "Who Wrote the Bible," "Tools and the Man," and "Applied Christianity." 16mo, $1.00, net; postage extra.

In "Social Salvation," the author considers the relation of the church and the pulpit to social questions of the day, studying particularly the care of the poor; the relation of the state to the unemployed; the questions of prison reform and of the treatment of the criminal classes; the social vices: public education in its various phases, and the government of cities.

The discussion is addressed especially to the ministry and the churches, but it deals with matters in which every good citizen is interested, and the principles of conduct to which it appeals are of universal application. The whole argument gathers around this contention, that the central interest in all these problems is the interest of character; that the question of saving men and women is the fundamental social question.

Dr. Gladden has done such effective work for municipal reforms in his own community that what he writes comes with exceptional weight and from first-hand knowledge.

HEZEKIAH'S WIVES

By Lillie Hamilton French

With frontispiece. 12mo.

Hezekiah was a canary-bird, with a charming nature and the song of a wood bird. This book is the true story of Hezekiah and his three wives, of which the first fought him; the second bored him; the third he loved. There was, too, a fourth canary who was introduced to him, a beautiful bird whom the third wife nearly demolished in her jealousy.

"If," says the author, "in the story of these wives any likeness to the tragedy of human love and marriage is to be found, it is not because I have tried to pen the likeness. I have written the story of my birds as it was told me by their daily acts. If, then, persons find the story like that of men and women, it is because the same passions and emotions exist in the two orders of creation (men and birds), and not because I have tried to draw any parallel."

A GUIDE TO THE LITERATURE OF AMERICAN HISTORY

By J. N. Larned

Author of "History for Ready Reference and Topical Reading," "A History of England," and editor of "A Multitude of Counsellors." 1 volume. Royal 8vo, $6.00, net; postage extra.

The purpose of this work, prepared under the auspices of the American Library Association, is to give to the public an expert judgment of all books relating to American history. Each book named is the subject of a brief descriptive and critical note, generally written and signed by a special student of the subject to which it relates, but sometimes drawn from books or reviews of critical authority.

Mr. Larned, who has had general editorship of the work, has won a high reputation for scholarship in American history, and is a librarian of wide experience.

A TRANSLATION OF THE FIRST SIX BOOKS OF VIRGIL'S ÆNEID

By Harlan H. Ballard

Crown 8vo.

Mr. Ballard has made an excellent metrical translation of the first half of the "Æneid." He has kept the metre of the original, and has given a close and faithful rendering of it. His lines preserve the sonorous charm of the Latin hexameter, and are especially felicitous in keeping also the flowing rhythm which is peculiarly characteristic of the Virgilian verse. It is a translation which cannot fail to commend itself to students and lovers of the classics.

THE SILVA OF NORTH AMERICA

By Charles Sprague Sargent

Volumes XIII and XIV. 4to, illustrated with 120 plates engraved in Paris from drawings made by C. E. Faxon. Price, $25.00 per volume. (Sold only in sets.)

The exhaustive and monumental work on the trees of North America begun by Professor Sargent in 1890 is brought to completion by these two volumes. The twelve volumes already published contain 620 plates of surpassing merit, engraved on copper by the best French engravers, and it was originally supposed that this number would adequately represent the different species of Silva north of Mexico, recognized by botanists but the stimulus given to the study of trees by the publication of the work has resulted in the discovery of more than a hundred new species, making necessary these two additional volumes. Volume XIV will contain an Index to the entire fourteen volumes. To those who originally subscribed for the first twelve volumes, this Index volume will be furnished without charge, and Volume XIII for $25.00. The work is sold only in complete sets, and the price for the fourteen volumes will henceforth be $350, net. No cost or pains have been spared in the mechanical execution of the work, which must always remain a standard on the subject which it treats. To the Public Libraries in all parts of the country it will be indispensable, and in many private libraries it must command an immediate place.

THE PHYSIOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF THE LIQUOR PROBLEM

2 volumes, 8vo. Edited by J. S. Billings, M. D.

This important work will complete the series of volumes which embody the results of the investigations of the "Committee of Fifty" for the study of the liquor problem. The Committee, under the direction of such men as President Eliot of Harvard, Hon. Seth Low and James C. Carter, Esq., of New York, Prof. Henry W. Farnum of Yale, Prof. Francis G. Peabody of Harvard, and Dr. John S. Billings of New York, have devoted several years to these investigations, and the three volumes already issued under their auspices treat of the Liquor Problem in its Legislative and its Economic Aspects, and of Substitutes for the Saloon. The work now announced, which will be much larger and fuller than either of its predecessors, will contain very full and scientific treatises on The Influence of Alcohol and Alcoholic Beverages on Digestion and Secretion, on Resistance to Infection, and on Growth and Development; The Food Value of Alcohol; The Relation of Drink to Insanity, etc., etc. The writers include Professor Chittenden of Yale, Dr. John S. Billings, Dr. C. F. Hodge, Dr. John J. Abel, and Dr. H. P. Bowditch, and the work is certain to take a high and authoritative place in the literature of this important subject.

POETICAL WORKS OF BAYARD TAYLOR

Edited by Mrs. Taylor. With a biographical sketch, portrait, and illustrations. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

This edition of Mr. Taylor's Poems is printed from new plates, and will meet a long-felt want; for the plates of the Household Edition had become worn by long use and many re-printings. All of the poems except those dramatic in form are included, and in their new dress they will have a new lease of popular favor, and win the permanent hold on the readers of poetry to which they are entitled by their very great variety, their delightful play of fancy, their sweep of imagination, and their uncommon mastery of firm and graceful expression. Mrs. Taylor, who has given this edition her careful editorial revision, contributes a Preface which is in effect a study of her husband's literary growth. The volume will be issued in handsome library form, as well as in the style of the Household Edition.

A SATCHEL GUIDE FOR THE VACATION TOURIST IN EUROPE

By W. J. Rolfe, Litt. D.

Edition for 1902, carefully revised to date, both the text and maps. 18mo, roan, flexible, $1.50, net.

The Satchel Guide was first published in 1872, and during the thirty years which have ensued since then, it has held its position as the best handy pocket guide-book for the vacation tourist in Europe. Dr. Rolfe has scrupulously revised it every year, keeping it up to date with a success which is attested by its undiminished popularity and by the hearty and voluntary testimony of the travelers who use it.

COMMENTS OF A COUNTESS. 12mo. Price, $1.00, net. [Very shortly]

This is a volume of light and amusing satirical sketches of society foibles—a book with many companions in current literature, but few equals. It is really a kind of "Guide to the Smart-Set," and has such excellent humor and such breadth of charity, that its satire is heightened to wonderful and richly enjoyable effect.

APPLETONS' WORLD SERIES; or, The Regions of the World

Edited by H. J. MACKINDER, M.A., Student of Christ Church, Reader in Geography in the University of Oxford, Principal of Reading College.

The series will consist of twelve volumes, each being an essay descriptive of a great natural region, its marked physical features, and the life of the people. Together, the volumes will give a complete account of the world, more especially as the field of human activity.

Each volume is to be illustrated with many maps printed in colors, and with diagrams in the text. It will be a distinguishing characteristic that both maps and diagrams will be drawn so that each shall convey some salient idea, and that together they shall constitute a clear epitome of the writer's argument.

LIST OF THE SUBJECTS AND AUTHORS.

1. BRITAIN AND THE BRITISH SEAS. By the Editor. Numerous Maps and Diagrams. 8vo. Cloth, $2.00 net; postage, 19 cents additional.

The first book of this new series is by the editor, one of the best equipped geographers in Great Britain. It is a broad, comprehensive review of the position of Britain and the characteristics of the British seas. The structure of the islands, their physical history, weather, climates, racial and historical geography, prepare the reader for a luminous study of anthropic Britain, her industries, economic and strategic geography, and her world influence.

2. THE NEARER EAST. By D. G. HOGARTH, M.A., Fellow of Magdalene College, Oxford, Director of the British School at Athens; Author of "A Wandering Scholar in the Levant." 8vo. Cloth, $2.00 net; postage, 17 cents additional.

In "The Nearer East," Dr. Hogarth, who possesses peculiar qualifications for this task, describes Southeastern Europe below the Balkans, the islands east of Corfu and Crete, Northeastern Africa, and the larger portion of Western and Southwestern Asia, including Asia Minor, Persia, Arabia, Syria, etc. The region with which he deals is not only rich in historic interest, but its geographical position and relations have invested it with marked importance from a natural and economic point of view. The author's purpose of illustrating the causative influence of geographical conditions upon man has an excellent field in "The Nearer East," and the insight, breadth, and interest of his survey will have emphatic recognition.

IN PREPARATION

3. Central Europe. By Dr. JOSEPH PARTSCH, Professor of Geography in the University of Breslau.

4. India. By Sir T. HUNGERFORD HOLDICH, K.C.I.E., C.B., R.E., Superintendent of Indian Frontier Surveys; author of numerous papers on military surveying and geographical subjects.

5. Scandinavia and the Arctic Ocean. By Sir CLEMENTS R. MARKHAM, K.C.B., F. R.S., President of the Royal Geographical Society.

6. The Russian Empire. By Prince KROPOTKIN, author of the articles "Russia" and "Siberia" in the Encyclopædia Britannica.

7. Africa. By J. SCOTT KELTIE, Secretary of the Royal Geographical Society; Editor of The Statesman's Year-Book; Author of "The Partition of Africa."

8. The Farther East. By ARCHIBALD LITTLE.

9. Western Europe and the Mediterranean. By ELISÉE RECLUS, author of the "Nouvelle Geographie Universelle."

10. Australasia and Antarctica. By Dr. H. O. FORBES, Curator of the Liverpool Museum, late Curator of the Christ Church Museum, New Zealand; Author of "A Naturalist's Wanderings in the Eastern Archipelago."

11. North America. By Prof. ISRAEL COOK RUSSELL, M.S., C.E., LL.D., Professor of Geology in the University of Michigan; author of numerous works on geological and physiographical subjects.

12. South America. By JOHN CASPER BRANNER, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Geology, and sometime Vice-President Leland Stanford Junior University; author of many publications on Brazil, geology, and physical geography.

THE GREAT PEOPLES SERIES

A New Historical Series, edited by Dr. York Powell, Regius Professor of Modern History in the University of Oxford.

The aim of the present scheme is to give in a series of well-printed, clearly written, and readable volumes a view of the process by which the leading peoples of the world have become great and earned their title to greatness ; to describe the share each has contributed to the common stock of what, for a better term, we call civilization.

The various volumes have been written by experts, for experience proves that when the man who knows his subject can write, he writes far better than the man who does not know his subject first-hand, but merely borrows from those who do.

THE ARTISTIC CRAFTS SERIES

D. Appleton and Company announce a Standard Series of Technical Handbooks on the Artistic Crafts, suitable for schools, workshops, and libraries, and for the amateur.

The series will appeal in the broadest and most intelligent way to handicraftsmen in the industrial and mechanic arts. It will consist of authoritative statements by experts in every field for the exercise of ingenuity, taste, imagination—the whole sphere of the so-called "dependent arts."

Mr. W. R. Lethaby, a Director of the London City Council Central School of Arts and the Crafts, and Professor of Design at South Kensington, has assumed the general editorship. Mr. Douglas Cockerell will commence the series with "Bookbinding and the Care of Books: A Handbook for Amateurs, Bookbinders, and Librarians"; to be followed by Mr. H. Wilson on "Gold and Silver Smiths' Work," and Mr. C. Spooner on "Cabinet-Making and Designing."

BOOKBINDING AND THE CARE OF BOOKS. A Handbook for Amateurs, Bookbinders, and Librarians. By DOUGLAS COCKERELL. 120 Illustrations and Diagrams by NOEL ROOKE, and 8 Collotype Reproductions of Bindings. The first volume in the Artistic Crafts Series of Technical Handbooks, edited by W. R. LETHABY. 12mo. Cloth, $1.20 net; postage, 8 cents additional.

With the growth of book-collecting and the increased attention given to the garb of books, there has arisen a demand for practical and simple information on their binding and care which this clearly written and useful volume will supply. It is full of concise and practical information that will arrest the attention of librarians, bookbinders, collectors, bibliophiles, amateur binders, cover designers, and all who are interested, for practical or æsthetic reasons, in the dress of books.

OTHERS IN PREPARATION

GREAT COMMANDERS SERIES

Edited by General JAMES GRANT WILSON. Uniform Edition, 12mo. Cloth, each, $1.50 net; postage, 11 cents additional.

America is a child of war. Her independence is the result of battle; so is the maintenance of her national unity. It is therefore in the lives of her great sons who have fought on land and sea that the country's history is best told. Such a history is the Great Commanders Series.

GENERAL FORREST. By J. HARVEY MATHES. A new volume in the Great Commanders Series. Portrait and Maps. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50 net; postage, 11 cents additional.

This military biography of the brilliant Confederate cavalry leader has been written under peculiarly advantageous conditions by Captain Mathes, whose study of his subject has been searching and comprehensive.

FINANCIAL CRISES

And Periods of Industrial and Commercial Depression. With Diagrams, Bibliography, and Index. By THEODORE E. BURTON. 12mo. Cloth, $1.40 net; postage, 12 cents additional.

The author's connection with large business interests, his long experience as a lawyer, and his service in Congress, where he has been conspicuously identified with important committees, have afforded a wide and valuable equipment for the preparation of this work.

PRACTICAL FORESTRY

A Book for the Student and for all who are practically interested, and for the General Reader. By Prof. JOHN GIFFORD, New York State College of Forestry, Cornell University. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth.

The recent establishment of the Bureau of Forestry at Washington, the steps taken in different States for forest protection, and the movement for national forest reservations which began a few years since, are tangible evidences of the increasing interest in a subject of immediate and general importance. The need of popular information regarding this subject, presented in a form comprehensive and practical but interesting, has prompted Professor Gifford to prepare this book.

PRISONERS OF RUSSIA

By Dr. BENJAMIN HOWARD. With an Introduction by General O. O. HOWARD. Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth.

Dr. Howard was a penologist of note, and his studies of prison life are a useful part of the literature of the subject, so that an especial value attaches to this personal account of Russian convict life at Sakhalin.

SUNDAY LEGISLATION

Its History to the Present Time and Its Results. By Dr. A. H. LEWIS. Revised Edition. 12mo. Cloth, $1.00 net; postage, 10 cents additional.

In view of the discussion regarding the observance of Sunday, and the arguments pro and con on the opening of saloons and the recognition of various forms of recreation, it becomes important to know the exact status of American sentiment as defined in our laws. The appearance of this new edition has a special timeliness in New York, and it is believed that there is no other volume which summarizes this important subject in a form so succinct yet comprehensive.

THE EARTH'S BEGINNING

NEW FICTION

New Novels of History

THE COLONIALS

By ALLEN FRENCH. A stirring story of old Boston at the time of the Tea Party and the Siege. Four editions printed in 25 days. Decorated, $1.50.

THE COAST OF FREEDOM

By ADELE MARIE SHAW. Probably the best picture of Cotton Mather and the Witchcraft craze which has ever appeared. It is a tale of Captain Phipps and the Spanish Main—of love and adventure—of stern Puritans and of buoyant youth in Massachusetts Bay Colony. $1.50.

BELSHAZZAR

By WM. STEARNS DAVIS. The author of "A Friend of Cæsar" and "God Wills It" has in his latest book written a superb story of ancient Babylon, full of life. The tale is strong, unusual, and enthralling. Illustrated, $1.50.

Two Great Southern Stories

THE BATTLEGROUND

By ELLEN GLASGOW. A simply charming story of Virginia life in war time by the author of "The Voice of the People." The two girls are most admirable as pictures of Southern girlhood and as studies of character, and the whole atmosphere of the story is very human. Illustrated, $1.50.

THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS

By THOMAS DIXON, Jr. A tale of the South since the War, treating the Negro question from the Southern white man's point of view. The advance orders necessitated a first edition of 15,000 copies. Illustrated, $1.50.

Other New Fiction

THE MISDEMEANORS OF NANCY

By ELEANOR HOYT. Nancy is the most charmingly frivolous young lady imaginable—she is simply irresistible. The book sparkles with the bright and vivacious tales of this typically American girl, whose mischievous eyes have worked madness upon so many. "The man who came often" is an object of extreme envy to every reader. Illustrated by Penrhyn Stanlaws. $1.50.

CAPTAIN JINKS OF THE HORSE MARINES

By CLYDE FITCH. The well-know comedy in which Miss Ethel Barrymore has scored such a popular success. Illustrated from photographs of scenes of the play and from artists' sketches for the costumes. $1.25 net.

THE MYSTERY OF THE SEA

By BRAM STOKER. A fine story by the author of "Dracula," which, though lacking much of the gruesomeness of that tale, yet is of strong and continued interest. $1.50.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY, Publishers, 34 Union Square, New York

BOOKS of VARIED INTEREST

New Nature Books

THE BROOK BOOK

By MARY ROGERS MILLER. The author, well-known as connected with the Nature Study Bureau at Cornell University, follows a typical brook through the year, with all the plant and animal life connected with it. Illustrated with about 50 pictures from photographs and drawings. $1.35 net.

AMONG THE WATERFOWL

By HERBERT K. JOB. At sea, in the North, and in the swamps of Dakota where they breed. Mr. Job has studied these wild birds, making a most fascinating volume of his experiences, About 75 illustrations from superb life photographs by the author. $1.35 net.

FOOD AND GAME FISHES

By DAVID STARR JORDAN and BARTON W. EVERMANN. This "Fish Book" is invaluable to all interested in the subject, written by a member of the United States Fish Commission. Nearly 100 pictures from life by A. R. Dugmore, and with 10 colored plates. $4.00 net.

New Books on Life, Art and Literature

The Empire of Business

By ANDREW CARNEGIE. Mr Carnegie here talks of those matters of affairs in which he has shown himself such a master; and his clear and concisely presented ideas on money-getting and money-spending will be of great interest to every man of business. $3.00 net.

The Reasonableness of Faith and Other Addresses

By Dr. W. S. RAINSFORD. Eminently direct and practical, full of strength and vigor and physical force, this book, like the man himself, is infused with a burning spirit of religious belief and trust. $1.20 net.

American Masters of Painting

By CHARLES H. CAFFIN. "Being brief appreciations of thirteen American Masters." The first adequate appreciations of American painters. $1.25 net.

An Introduction to the Study of English Poetry

By MARK H. LIDDELL. A new theory of poetry based upon the evidence of the development of poetic forms of expression, and a new method of English prosody, constructed in the light of this theory, as it applies to English speech material. $1.25 net.

Our Literary Deluge, and Some of its Deeper Waters

By FRANCIS W. HALSEY. Mr. Halsey is widely known as an author and editor, and his work puts him into very close relation to current literary thought. $1.25 net.

The Life of James Madison

By GAILLARD HUNT. The first volume in the "Biographical History of the United States." Mr. Hunt's biography is a most admirable one, and, with others to follow, will constitute a complete history of our country, told through the lives of its great men. Illustrated, $2.50 net.

Spiritual Heroes

By DAVID S. MUZZEY. The heroes treated in these essays are chosen representatives of the main currents of spiritual thought that have contributed to our contemporaneous moral and religious life, and range from Buddha to Martin Luther. $1.25 net.

A New Edition of

Little Masterpieces

Edited by BLISS PERRY.

Vol. I. EMERSON.	Vol. IV. SWIFT.
" II. GOLDSMITH.	" V. BACON.
" III. MILTON.	" VI. JOHNSON.

The wide success of the first series of these charming little books has brought about the issue of another set of six volumes. Bound in flexible silk cloth or leather, with portrait, 50 cents per vol.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY, Publishers, 34 Union Square, New York

Sherlock Holmes

Is without question the most popular character in contemporary fiction. His is the name that will attract most attention in a display headline. His is the name that will make a book a "best selling book." For the first time

A. CONAN DOYLE

has placed

Sherlock Holmes

in a novel

The Hound of the Baskervilles

The book will be widely advertised. We will publish the first edition early in April. The demand is already large, for this is no ordinary book that must first win its way. We would therefore suggest that all orders be sent at once by booksellers desiring a portion of this first edition. They will be placed on file and filled in the order in which they are received.

JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS

the creator of "Uncle Remus" has written

The Making of a Statesman

A Novelette

together with

Other Tales of Georgia Life

It is not often that Joel Chandler Harris writes a novel, and when he does people want it. "The Making of a Statesman" is one that they will particularly want. It will be ready March 25.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO., New York

A FEW OF OUR EARLY SPRING BOOKS

The Madness of Philip

By JOSEPHINE DODGE DASKAM

Illustrated by F. Y. CORY

There are no children in recent fiction whom more people have laughed at and loved than those described by Miss Daskam and pictured by Miss Cory. The thousands of households to which they have been introduced in McClure's Magazine will now welcome them in book form. Ready March 18.

Red Saunders

His Adventures West and East

By HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

Frontispiece by JAY HAMBRIDGE

"Red" is the genuine article in the cowboy line. He is six-foot-three of rough hewn manliness, dowered with the reckless humor of the plains, and a cheery philosophy all his own. People will like "Red Saunders." Ready April 1.

The Blazed Trail

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Author of "The Westerners"

The action of this story, and action there is plenty, lies in the vast Michigan timber lands. It is the story of a fight between a young land-looker and a powerful lumber corporation. It is a story that will appeal to all good Americans. Ready March 18.

An Island Cabin

By ARTHUR HENRY

The record of a modern Crusoe. With two companions, city-bred and city-bored like himself, Mr. Henry settled on an acre-and-a-half island within a hundred miles of New York. There they worked things out for themselves. This book should have little difficulty in making its way. Ready April 1.

The Role of The Unconquered

By Test Dalton. A thrilling historical narrative, abounding with life and action, of the courtship of Henry of Navarre and Marie de Medici.

"It is animated, carefully arranged, dramatic, and unusually interesting. I take pleasure in commending it to the public."
—LEW WALLACE.

"It is an unusually worthy and entertaining work. You have my hearty congratulations." —JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

"I found much enjoyment in it. It was like sitting at a good old-fashioned drama where 'all's well that ends well.'"
Cloth bound, $1.50. —BOOTH TARKINGTON.

The Perverts

By Wm. Lee Howard. This remarkable work is a romance in which are graphically described the many morbid mental conditions existing in society to-day. The story is continuous in developing interest, is rich in description, and exciting to the last line. Cloth bound, $1.50.

Enoch Strone

By E. Phillips Oppenheim. A splendid story by this clever English writer. Some of the situations verge on the risque, but the moral line is not overstepped. Many peeps into English life are afforded, and in these the social atmosphere is crisp and breezy, the conversations brilliant and entertaining. It is a story that will interest readers generally. Cloth bound, $1.50.

Josh Billings' "Old Farmers' Allminax"

A reproduction of the Famous Comic Allminax which ran from 1870 to 1880. Millions of copies were sold, and for ten years it was the most popular of all comic books. The continuous demand since it has been out of print, justifies the present unique reproduction. Cloth bound, illustrated, $1.50.

The Pagan's Cup

By Fergus Hume, author of "The Mystery of A Handsome Cab," "The Rainbow Feather," etc. This is a thrilling detective story, in which the interest and mystery is well sustained. The characters are finely drawn and many of the scenes and climaxes are very impressive. Cloth bound, $1.25.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY, Publishers, New York

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY'S

Early Spring Books.

THE METHODS OF LADY WALDERHURST.

By FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT.

A most fascinating story which the New York Times pronounced as probably the finest work the author had ever done. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.25.

AMOR VICTOR.

By ORR KENYON.

A story of the early Christians, with a strong picture of their persecutions, that is fully as powerful as "Quo Vadis."

It gives a striking picture of Ephesus, describing vividly the worship of the Ephesians, and also of the life in Rome at that time.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

WOLFVILLE DAYS.

By ALFRED HENRY LEWIS.

A companion to "Wolfville," which was so successful. The best story of Western life since the days of Bret Harte. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

SARITA THE CARLIST.

By ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT.

A stirring story of adventure, by the author of "For Love or Crown," "In the Name of a Woman," and "A Dash for a Throne." 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

THE GIANT'S GATE.

By MAX PEMBERTON.

A dashing story of adventure, by the author of "Kronstadt." 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

THE MINORITY.

By FREDERICK TREVOR HILL.

The first long novel by the author of the popular collection of short stories entitled "The Case and Exceptions." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

MARGARET TUDOR.

By ANNIE T. COLCOCK.

This is a romantic novel with the scene laid at St. Augustine at the time when it was under the dominion of Spain. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.00.

NOT ON THE CHART.

By CHARLES L. MARSH.

An original and fascinating story concerning the adventures of three castaways. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

MY JAPANESE WIFE.

By CLIVE HOLLAND.

A new edition of this popular book, which has been out of print for several years.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

TOM MOORE.

By THEODORE BURT SAYRE.

A story founded on the popular play by this name, by the author of "Two Summer Girls and I."

Mr. Sayre is one of the most successful of the young American dramatists, and he promises to be equally successful as a novelist.

Four or five editions of his work, "Two Summer Girls and I," have been sold.

This will be beautifully illustrated by half-tone engravings after photographs taken from the play.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

THE AMERICAN DIARY OF A JAPANESE GIRL.

This is a most delightful book, published anonymously, a portion of which appeared in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, where it proved very popular.

It is illustrated in a charming manner by a Japanese artist. 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

THE RED ANVIL.

By CHARLES R. SHERLOCK.

A romance of fifty years ago, by the author of "Your Uncle Lew."

This describes in a most striking way the "underground railway" as it existed at that time, and there is a charming love story running through it.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

SON!

By LORD GILHOOLEY.

A companion to the popular books "Yutzo" and "Confucius."

This is a most humorous and entertaining book, and ought to prove just as popular as its predecessors.

12mo, cloth, $1.00.

NEW EDITIONS.

A GUIDE TO THE WILD FLOWERS.

By ALICE LOUNSBERRY.

Profusely illustrated with pictures in colors and half-tone engravings, by Mrs. ELLIS ROWAN. New popular edition, 8vo, cloth, net, $1.75.

A GUIDE TO THE TREES.

By ALICE LOUNSBERRY.

Illustrated by Mrs. ELLIS ROWAN. Companion volume to the above. New popular edition, profusely illustrated. 8vo, cloth, net, $1.75.

THE TREASURE SEEKERS.

By E. NESBIT.

A new edition of this juvenile has been prepared in response to the popular demand. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY, 5 and 7, East 16th St., New York.

PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

(Thirtieth Year)

In response to the desires of the book trade we shall publish the forthcoming issue of THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, to be ready at the opening of the active Fall season, in August, 1902,

With a Complete Index

to the publishers' catalogues contained therein. The books will be indexed by author, title and, practically, by subject or class. The name of series, the price, and name of publisher will also be given, so that any book contained in the ANNUAL may be located at once by whatsoever clue the user may have. The Index will be printed in two columns to the page, in readable type, full face letters being used to make reference to authors' names more convenient.

The bulk of the volume, as heretofore, will consist of the latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm names, with the smaller lists and advertisements of single books at the end. The patent "Duplex Index," having the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, enables instantaneous reference to the catalogues and the lists, whether the book is open or shut.

These lists, thus bound together, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working tool as to have made THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL for upwards of a quarter of a century indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. With the reference index to the books listed in the publishers' catalogues its practical usefulness will be enhanced an hundred fold.

The work will be offered to the trade in two styles :

With the Index, ... $5 00
Without the Index, ... 1 50

if ordered and paid for in advance of publication. Orders, stating whether the volume is desired with or without the index, should be registered at

The Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY
(P. O. Box 943) 298 Broadway, New York

☞We shall also supply the new volume of the ENGLISH REFERENCE LIST for which we control the American market. Further particulars as to price will be given later.

PUBLISHERS who safeguard crevices through which high binding bills creep, are ultimately bound to lead the procession in the onward march of progress. Just stop long enough in the whirl of your busy hours to consider the vast importance and advantage to your interests which a connection with me implies. A line to me either to call or submit samples and estimates will have the desired effect. The annual sum total I am positive I can save you in your binding account is sufficient to provide a dividend, the amount of which some of the best publishers don't earn. In spite of being your lowest bidder I will give you the highest character of work, employing only the highest priced labor, thus obtaining the best possible results. My plant and facilities are unequalled. Don't allow yourselves to be blinded by cant and misrepresentation. The constant hum of my busy plant is a sufficient answer to those who disregard the broad plane of justice and equality. Even those publishers who have their own plants find that I can do their work cheaper and better than they can produce it themselves.

TO meet a wider demand than has shown itself for "The Annual American Catalogue," it is proposed to replace that publication this year with

The Annual American Catalogue

Cumulated, 1900-1901

including in one alphabet the short title lists of the books of 1900 and 1901, giving the information by author, title, subject and series. This cumulation is to continue annually until a five-yearly volume of "The American Catalogue" in its new shape is reached. It is hoped that this form of catalogue will prove a desirable, practical working tool for the trade, supplementing as it will do, from year to year, the last issue of the five-yearly "American Catalogue," without the need of consulting several alphabets in several volumes.

8vo, cloth, - - - $2.00

if ordered and paid for in advance.

Should there be enough demand for the "Annual Catalogue" as heretofore published, with full titles and annotations of the books for 1901, bound in half leather, at $3.50, or in sheets at $3.00, we should be prepared also to continue that publication.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, 1900-1901, which has been unavoidably delayed, will be ready this month. Orders, specifying in which form the Catalogue is desired, should be addressed at an early date to

THE ROMANCE OF A COUNTRY GIRL

HESTER BLAIR

By WILLIAM HENRY CARSON

This is the way they are talking about HESTER everywhere

"This sweet and tender romance of a country girl is full of unexpected charms. It is a book of uncommon cleverness."—Boston Globe, March 2.

"The author tells his story with remarkable dramatic power; and it must be put down as one of the successes of the season."—St. Paul Pioneer Press, March.

"One of the love stories that touch chords which are felt in every human heart."—St. Louis Republic, March.

"Possessing heart interest of a high order, and strong dramatic qualities."—N. Y. Journal, February 22.

"There can be no doubt it will be widely popular."—Boston Herald, January 16.

"Hester is indeed a truly lovable young woman, a woman worthy of respect and admiration."—Book News, March.

ROCKHAVEN

The Great Character Novel of the Present. By CHARLES CLARK MUNN, author of "Pocket Island" and "Uncle Terry." Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. Fine laid paper, gilt top, decorated cover, price, $1.50.

MR. MUNN'S latest book is already assured of great and immediate success. It has all the "heart interest" of "Uncle Terry" and all its poetic appreciation of nature, while being far stronger in plot and more extended and powerful in its character drawing. In "Jess Hutton" a character is created that will attract and hold both old and young as few characters in American fiction have done.

Or, American Boys in Venezuela

Being the First Volume of the "Pan-American Series." By EDWARD STRATEMEYER, author of the famous "Old Glory" Series. Illustrated by A. B. Shute. Cloth, decorated cover, price, $1.00, net.

MR. STRATEMEYER here begins a new series which is most timely, valuable, and interesting. Just the book boys should read in view of the general interest in matters Pan-American, and just the book they will want to read because it is so interesting.

King for a Summer
